

U.S. vetoes U.N. resolution condemning Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States has cast its 12th veto in the United Nations Security Council to defeat a resolution condemning Israeli air attacks on Palestinian camps in Lebanon.

U.S. Ambassador Daniel Patrick Moynihan told the 15-nation council his government, as a principal mediator in the Middle East, could not support the resolution because it did not censure guerrilla violence against Israel and therefore was one-sided.

Thirteen countries voted for the resolution, and Costa Rica abstained. "The condemnation is there," said a spokesman for Lebanon, which had asked the council to take action against Israel.

The resolution condemned the Israeli government for its air attacks last week in which the Lebanese police said more than 100 persons were killed. It called on Israel "to desist forthwith from all military attacks against Lebanon," and it warned that if such attacks are repeated, the council would consider further measures.

Moynihan said the United States strongly deplored the Israeli raids. But he said the council should also condemn the Palestinian guerrilla raids into Israel which the Israelis say their raids are designed to check.

Moynihan submitted amendments to the resolution condemning all acts of violence, "especially those which result in the tragic loss of innocent civilian life," and appealing to all parties to refrain from any action that might endanger Middle East peace talks. But the amendments got only seven of the nine favorable votes needed to add them to the resolution.

The vetoed resolution was sponsored jointly by Cameroon, Tanzania, Iraq, Guyana and Mauritania. The Soviet Union, China, Byelorussia, Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Sweden also voted for it.

The U.S. amendments were supported by Britain, Costa Rica, France, Italy, Japan and Sweden. China and Iraq announced they were not participating, and the other six council members abstained.

It was the third veto cast by the United States to kill an anti-Israeli resolution because it did not also condemn Arab violence.

Israel boycotted the debate because the council invited the Palestine Liberation Organization to take part. Israel has also said it will boycott a council debate on the Arab-Israeli dispute next month because the PLO is to be invited to take part.

Dixon Dollar winners

Winners of Monday's Dixon Dollars drawing are presented by Everett Kraft of Hank Henry's Men's Shops. Jeanne Baker (right) of Polo received the 50 Dixon Dollars first prize when her entry from Al-bright's Radio and TV was drawn. Carol Byrd (center), also of Polo, won 25 Dixon Dollars with a ticket she entered at City National Bank. Monday's 15 Dixon Dollar winner was George Werner, who entered the contest at Ken Nelson Buick-Pontiac Opel. Mary Anne Zmudka won the $10 prize with a Spurgeon's entry. The annual Christmas contest is in its second week and will continue through Dec. 23. (Telegraph Photo)

Votes to study reappraisal plans

By ROBERT H. NELLIS

On an 18-5 vote, the Lee County Board today voted to investigate programs for reappraisal of property in the county.

Elmer Miller, supervisor of assessments, in a letter to the board, asked the Finance Committee be instructed to get bids for an outside firm to conduct a reappraisal of property in the county.

The communication from Miller asserted, "inflation has been a factor which has not been seen before," in having the effect of un-equalizing property assessments.

It further noted the state law which drops assessment from 50 per cent of actual value to 33 1-3rd per cent will have an important effect on all taxing bodies and that a readjustment of property values for taxation should be made before Jan. 1977.

Miller's letter contended an outside firm could perform the reappraisal cheaper than local offices.

There are between 22,000 and 23,000 parcels of property in the county, and Edward Conroy, District 3, a member of the Board of Review, and a proponent of reappraisal, suggested the lots in Woodhaven Estates have been sold recently and probably are assessed at their true value and would not have to be included in a reappraisal.

Ronald Brandau, county highway engineer, said there are about 4,000 parcels in Woodhaven, but County Clerk John Stouffer contended not all of these have been placed on county taxing rolls yet.

Bernard Sexton, District 4, wanted some assurance property could be kept at the true value after reappraisal so that one would not have to be taken again in the future.

Ernest Norden, District 1, complained that state law only requires that property be assessed at a certain percentage of its full value but does not require any guidelines for determining what is the true value of property. He suggested there is no mandatory reason for conducting a reappraisal of property.

Conroy took an opposite approach, declaring the big question is what is the figure to which the 33 1-3rd per cent factor is to be attached. He observed it is a "moral" obligation to tax people equally to finance government.

Fred Kesselring, District 2, said, "I live in a township of about 1,500 and I think 90 per cent of them take the Dixon newspaper. Every time there is reported that we have discussed reappraisal of property, these people tell me they are against an outside firm doing a reassessment and asked, 'Why can't our own people do it?'"

Conroy exclaimed, "It matters little where the people come from if they get the job done. We need to get property assessments equalized and those who may be able to do this may be in this room right now. But let's have them get this job done."

The board concurred with a recommendation of the Road and Bridge Committee and awarded a contract to Motorola Inc. to purchase two-way radios for the county Highway Department for $19,938. A lower bid was received from Radio Ranch, Polo, of $18,945, but the committee suggested the Motorola product was better quality than that offered by the lower bidder.

County Treasurer Sharon Thompson reported the county realized a net of $90,868.42 as the balance of the proceeds of the sale of the nursing-home property near Eldena.

John Tatum, administrator, KSB Hospital, noted the County Health Board leases space in the old nurses' dormitories and that a five-year lease expires in April of 1976 and that because of projected building plans by the hospital, its board is only interested in renting the space on a month-to-month basis after that.

The administrator explained the hospital in the spring will break ground for additional space for its operations and for space to be used by a medical clinic and speculated the dormitory will be torn down to provide parking space.

Tatum also informed the board the home nursing care program of the County Health Board is not approved for payment of Medicare funds and asked and received permission to inspect home care records of the health board and to talk to personnel in that department and bring a proposal regarding the hospital take over the operation to the January meeting of the board.

Robert Roiland, administrator, County Nursing Home, detailed the problem encountered in repairing an emergency generator which was acquired from the state for $750. He said the Health and Welfare Committee first had estimated it would cost about $4,100 to get the generator repaired and put into operation, but that it has been discovered more was wrong with it than had been suspected. He said estimates to fix it up now run as high as $6,500.

Roiland said a new generator can be purchased for $7,400.

The board was discussing the problem at the end of the morning session.

How members voted whether the county should investigate programs for reappraisal of property in the county. YES: Burrs, Conroy, Ege, Erickson, Gittleson, Green, Gusse, Hamersmith, Henning, Huffman, Koch, Padgett, Schrauth, Sexton, Smith, Topper, Balser, Beggs. NO: Faber, Kant, Kesselring, Norden, Rogers. ABSENT: Allen, Burke, Considine, Dunphy, Frazza.

Ogle Board votes to support amendment on judicial elections

By LENNY INGRASSIA

OREGON— Ogle County Board members today gave their support to a legislative attempt to amend the State Constitution and have judges run on an elective rather than the present retention basis.

A retention ballot has been in use for judgeships since 1964. To become a retained judge in an election, 60 per cent of the votes cast must favor the retention.

The move is being sponsored by the State Association of County Boards, which according to Clinton Ortiguesen, Wood-sung, District 3, is seeking support for the measure before it petitions the legislature for approval of the amendment.

If approved, the judges on the supreme, appellate and circuit court levels would run for election on a regular ballot and, as any other candidate, they would face opposition.

The resignation of adult probation officer Spencer Blanchard was submitted to the board in a surprise move this morning. The resignation was contained in a letter from Circuit Judge John Moore. No reason was given for the resignation. Blanchard filed nominating petitions Monday to place his name on the Republican ballot for circuit clerk in the March 16 primary.

The board, in a roll call vote, unanimously approved an appropriation of up to $70,000 in matching funds for construction of two bridges over Kyte River in Rochelle.

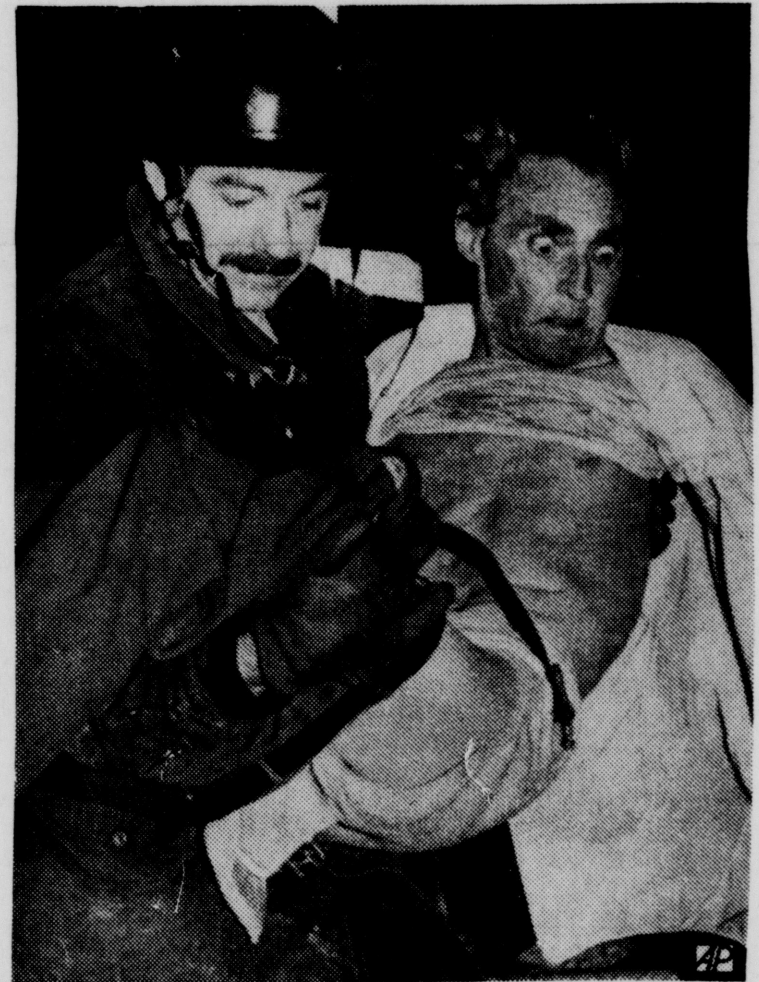

A similar amount was approved by the Rochelle Council for the extension of the Caron Road from Seventh Avenue to First Avenue.

A Road and Bridge Committee resolution recommended approval of the $70,000 payment over a two-year period. The possibility of the receipt of federal funds may reduce the amount each agency would pay for construction of the bridges to $21,000 each.

A request to have Ogle County affiliate with the Northwest Regional Council of Public Officials was tabled on a request from Robert Hultgren, Rochelle, District 2. The council serves as a coordinating agency for planning in a seven-county region including Carroll, Jo-

Davies, Lee, Whiteside, De-Kalb, Stephenson, and Ogle Counties. A 10-cent per capita entry fee amounting to $4,000 would be needed for affiliation.

A request from R. E. "Raggs" Erickson, county highway superintendent, to place highway department employees on the same holiday schedule as courthouse employees was sent to committee. Fourteen days are designated as paid holidays for courthouse personnel, while highway employees receive eight days off. Michael Alongi, Rochelle, District 2, called for a "closer look" at the request to determine the actual cost. There are 22 highway department employees. The request, if approved, will add 132 days' pay to the budget.

Specific cases are court duty, Stevens testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Paul Stevens, President Ford's nominee for the Supreme Court, testified today the court's function is to decide specific cases and not "to search for issues or regard itself as a commission to reform the law."

Appearing for a second day before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Stevens said that judges "do not have a charter of freedom" to substitute their own views for the law of the Constitution.

Presently a judge on the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, Stevens has been nominated by Ford to succeed retired Justice William O. Douglas. The committee and the full Senate are expected to approve the nomination.

Stevens told the committee the Supreme Court should not attempt to legislate, set policy or change the Constitution.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., asked whether he thought any appeal of a presidential impeachment conviction by the Senate could be taken to the Supreme Court.

The 55-year-old Stevens replied that he has not studied the issue with care, but he told Byrd "my first reaction is that there would be no appeal."

Byrd said he was pleased by Stevens' answers to this and other questions and declared, "I feel as you do."

In another area, Stevens said that he places a very high value on the First Amendment and has a high respect for the informing function of the press.

He called the First Amendment a fundamental part of the Bill of Rights — "one of the fundamental things that makes democracy work."

Stevens told the committee Monday he would be "more concerned" about discrimination against blacks than against women. He said blacks are a more disadvantaged group.

The National Organization For Women asked the President to withdraw Stevens' nomination because of what he said.

His testimony led NOW President Karen DeCrow to issue a statement saying, "NOW is disgusted at this blatant example of the white male power structure pitting women against minority males and making us all scramble for the crumbs of power."

Ms. DeCrow said, "The NOW board is profoundly shocked that President Ford is not able to see the significance not only of not appointing a woman to the bench but of appointing a man who is so against women's rights that he does not even understand the issues of civil rights for women in 1975."

Stevens also told the committee Monday that he believes in equality of the sexes. But he said he is not sure the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution would accomplish much beyond the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment, "aside from its symbolic value."

Stevens also said he is against putting any litigants, even victims of past discrimination, in a favored class.

Ford signs NYC loan authorization

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today signed congressional authorization for $2.3 billion in loans to New York City and asked Congress to appropriate the money.

In a message, Ford said it would cost $1 million to administer the loans during fiscal 1976 and $315,000 to administer them during a budgetary transitional period from next July 1 through Sept. 30.

The President signed the authorization as the elements of a federal package to keep New York City out of default were coming together. The House was ready to approve a change in federal bankruptcy laws and the Senate prepared to approve the $2.3 billion appropriation.

The change in the bankruptcy law, expected to be voted on today in the House, would permit orderly default by municipalities. President Ford has asked for the change.

The Senate, meanwhile is expected to approve on Wednesday a $10.23-billion supplemental appropriation bill.

Peoria Bridge lanes reopened

The newly rebuilt southbound lanes of the Peoria Avenue Bridge have been reopened to traffic with a warning from city officials. Just in front of the car in the picture is an expansion joint. There are a number of such joints on the bridge. They have been filled with cold-patch material to take away the extreme bump which would result if not filled. There will still be noticeable bumps, however, so motorists are advised to slow down while crossing the bridge. Drivers are also reminded that the city will not be able to salt the bridge because it would spoil the seal of the blacktopping which is to be applied later. The bridge will be slippery in bad weather. (Telegraph Photo)

Tax cut plan called exercise in futility

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional plan to cut taxes "looks like a complete exercise in futility" because of President Ford's demands for a reduction in federal spending, the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee said today.

The chairman, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., made the comment to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon as the committee began hearings on a bill to extend this year's tax cuts. Long said the President's threat to veto the bill remind him of a game of "chicken."

"I don't think you ought to challenge somebody to a game of chicken if you're going to be the chicken," Long added.

Simon denied Long's charge that the Ford administration's insistence that any 1976 tax cut be coupled to a 1977 spending ceiling would destroy the congressional budget process.

"All we are asking Congress to do is adopt a joint resolution now to hold spending to $395 billion" and decide later where cuts would be made, Simon said.

Long said Congress would refuse to go along with Ford's plan. Should Congress then be unable to override a Ford veto of the $13 billion tax cut, Long said, experts estimate another half million Americans might lose their jobs next year.

Senate leaders, meanwhile, expressed hope that a compromise with Ford could be reached on the tax cut bill to permit Congress to recess for Christmas as planned.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott said they hope that Ford could be prompt with any veto so that an override vote could be scheduled immediately.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Monday that Ford instructed Simon to tell the Finance Committee that unless a spending ceiling is included the President will stand by his vow to veto the House-passed bill extending this year's tax cuts for individual taxpayers.

Race for GOP nod for Ogle Circuit Clerk

OREGON— A race for the Republican nomination for the Ogle County Circuit Clerk was evident following the first day of filings.

Filing for the post are Phyllis A. Roe, Rochelle, wife of Sen. John Roe, and Spencer Blanchard, Byron, chief Ogle County Probation officer. Incumbent Morris Roe, Oregon, is not seeking re-election to the post.

Peter J. Woods, Rochelle, incumbent state's attorney, was also among those to file Monday, as was Robert Personette, Mt. Morris, who filed in his bid for re-election as county coroner. Incumbent Republicans who had filed by noon Tuesday for posts on the Ogle County Board included: Michael Alongi, Rochelle, District 2; Robert Folk, Oregon, District 3; Leonard Appel, Forreston, District 4; Wayne Ehmen, Monroe Center, District 1; Edward Schnulle Jr., Rt. 3, Polo, District 4, and Clarence Hoffman, Lindenwood, District 4.

Filing for a county board post from District 2 was newcomer Gilbert Keefe, Rochelle. There were no new filings in Lee County.

Tax cuts should be extended; CED

NEW YORK—A group of national business leaders today called for a temporary continuation of the personal income tax reduction voted by Congress earlier this year. According to the program committee of the non-partisan Committee for Economic Development (CED), expiration of the tax cut on Jan. 1 would in effect result in a $12 billion tax increase, and would thus be inconsistent with stabilization policy required under present economic conditions. But, the committee said, the tax cut "should be promptly modified or reversed once the economic situation makes this appropriate."

The panel also gave strong support to a permanent extension of the 10 per cent investment tax credit. Such a move, the group asserted, would not only bolster recovery of the economy but also provide greater incentives for the capital investment needed to control inflation in the future.

At the same time, the business panel voiced concern about the inflationary risks of adding greatly to the present amount of fiscal stimulus, either through a substantial tax cut that is not immediately offset by expenditure reductions or through a major breach in the expenditure ceiling that Congress has imposed for the 1976 fiscal year.

The panel's statement, entitled "the New Congressional Budget Process and the Economy," said that the budget reform act, which achieved wide-ranging changes in congressional budgetary procedures during the past year, has committed Congress to make explicit decisions on fiscal policy to improve the health of the economy in 1976.

The statement noted that the administration's proposal for immediate enactment of a spending ceiling for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1976 "would run counter to the procedures" of the budget reform act. "It would require Congress to make its key decisions on the fiscal 1977 budget before having seen the detailed proposals contained in the President's annual budget message and before the new process for considering these proposals has gotten under way."

The budget reform act requires Congress for the first time to consider and to vote on total federal expenditures and revenues simultaneously. The law established new budget committees in the House and Senate, and a new Congressional Budget Office, and set specific timetables for congressional action on the budget.

The committee praised Congress for its "impressive" accomplishments during the "trial run" in the first year of the budget reform act and urged the legislators to continue to press for improvements in its budgetary procedures. "In the past, the absence of an adequate congressional budget mechanism has been a major impediment to the conduct of effective fiscal policies aimed at stabilizing the economy at a high level."

"The crucial test of the new process and of the willingness of Congress to be governed by its own law" will occur in the coming year when the provisions of the budget reform act become fully mandatory, the panel said.

To strengthen the budget process, the statement calls on Congress to:

—distinguish clearly between decisions on short-term stabilization policies and decisions on longer-term budget priorities and resource allocation;

—base budget decisions on program effectiveness measured in terms of specific program objectives;

—plan and implement budgeting on a multi-year basis whenever possible; and —assure that fiscal and monetary policies work in harmony.

As Congress assumes a firmer hold on fiscal policy, "the stabilization burden that has tended to fall on monetary policy should be reduced," the panel emphasizes. A shift in the fiscal-monetary mix "is desirable to help create a financial climate conducive to adequate long-term growth in capital formation."

Again, we must hang together, or...

By DON OAKLEY

"When in the course of human events the threat of extinction confronts mankind, it is necessary for the people of the United States to declare their interdependence with the peoples of all nations and to embrace those principles and build those institutions which will enable mankind to survive and civilization to flourish."

So reads the preamble to a "Declaration of Interdependence," a document written for today's world by noted historian Henry Steele Commager. The complete text was read publicly for the first time in Philadelphia on October 24.

The new Declaration is one of five principal steps in a program developed by the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia to foster American actions to meet the challenges of global interdependence. Others include:

—A ceremonial signing of the Declaration by members of Congress and other Americans at Independence Hall in January, 1976.

—Sponsoring a convocation of the specialized agencies of the United Nations in Philadelphia next fall.

—Arranging a series of "Interdependence Assemblies" and encouraging the study of interdependence in the nation's schools.

The World Affairs Council sees its role as that of a catalyst, to bring together distinguished leaders and experts to discuss and analyze the facts and issues shaping world affairs and American foreign policy.

Its program will actually run for 13 years, paralleling the span between 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was promulgated, and 1789, when the new system of federal government began to function under the U.S. Constitution.

Like that original Declaration, "It is recognized that this will be a beginning, not a conclusion of effort," says Frederick Heldring, chairman of the council's Bicentennial Era program.

Why a "Declaration of Interdependence"?

Because just as the founding fathers of the United States framed their Declaration on the basis of certain self-evident truths, new self-evident truths of an even more complex nature confront the United States and the whole world today.

The lives, fortunes and cultures of all peoples are threatened by worldwide imbalances of food, natural resources, intercontinental pollution, world population, crisis in the international monetary system and military armaments out of control, as well as a host of other threats to human development and order that transcend national boundaries, points out William W. Bodine Jr., president of the council.

"It is time," he says, "for daring initiatives by people concerned and responsible for the fate of mankind." It is the council's hope to reawaken the spirit that led to a mutuality of understanding among the American colonies and to kindle that same spirit for an understanding of mutuality among nations.

As the nation approaches its Bicentennial, says Bodine, "nothing could be more timely and relevant than to extend the concept of independence to interdependence."

"They followed me home!"

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

"Just For Fun," was the title of a program presented by Mrs. Lillian Smith for the Rock River Garden Club's annual Christmas Tea and Guest Day Monday afternoon in Loveland Community House.

Mrs. James Brockwell, 1025 Eustace Drive, will be hostess for the Wa-tan-ye Service Club's annual Christmas party Sunday when a 5 p.m. social hour will precede a dinner and gift exchange. Members of the December and February Committees will assist Mrs. Brockwell as co-hostesses.

25 YEARS AGO

Birds wintering in the Dixon area are finding it difficult to obtain food today with snow and ice covering the ground. It has been suggested that residents put out pieces of suet and bread crumbs in their yards and on window sills for our feathered friends

At a recent meeting of the South Dixon Willing Workers 4-H club at the Red Brick school it was decided to sell Christmas cards. It was also decided to hold an extra meeting for Leisure Hour.

100 YEARS AGO

During the fire when someone passed up a bottle of whisky to the firemen, the foreman thought it was a fluid that was a little too inflammable for fire extinguishing purposes and therefore threw it away. That was just what he should have done, for that was not the time to pass the bottle.

If any farmer within 40 miles of Dixon desires to buy groceries cheap now is the time; for on account of the "run" among our merchants, tea, sugar, coffee, etc., is down to zero.

Bill to prune dead leaves from Fed vine

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There's a bill now before Congress which seems too good to be true.

Yet I've not seen more than a bare mention of it in the news.

Labeled H.R. 9603, the proposal, if passed by the House and Senate, and not vetoed by President Ford, would require the Congress to review every federal program every two years—from scratch—as though each project were being proposed for the first time.

The Senate and House committees responsible for every program, however large or small, would be required to ask and check out in detail:

—Whether the project objectives were still relevant.

—Whether the methods used and operations called for were still the best possible approach to the problems being attacked.

—Whether in fact the federal expenditures were having any substantial impact.

—Whether the program duplicated or conflicted with others—public or private.

The congressional committees would be required to consider alternate methods of achieving the objectives aimed at. And to study whether any of the alternatives would cost less than the program being reviewed, or achieve greater benefits for the same cost.

The committees would be required to hold open hearings, and to make their studies and results available freely to the public.

As part of the exercise, each federal department and agency concerned would be required to provide the Congress with detailed cost and effectiveness studies for current operations, minimal or reduced operations and expanded operations.

Now anyone who has studied the federal budget for any period of time knows that a blind man could slash 10 per cent with ease—and perhaps as much as 15 per cent—simply by eliminating programs which have outgrown their usefulness or which have produced no measurable results for all the millions—or billions—of dollars spent.

But eliminating those programs seems to have been beyond the ability of the president and Congress.

Some time back, President Ford sent Congress a list of programs he believed should be declared dead and buried with due grace. Very little happened.

President Nixon, in a series of budget proposals, made extensive lists of projects which should have died long before, and noted in dollar detail what each was costing the taxpayer. This was to no avail. The mountain of Congress labored and brought forth a mouse. Some "dead" programs, and numbers of marginal projects, were expanded.

This history illustrates the "catch" in what otherwise might be considered an ideal answer to the rising cost of government.

Suppose H.R. 9603 passes both houses of Congress. Suppose Mr. Ford does not veto the measure. Suppose then that Congress each year dutifully considers half the budget programs from scratch, asking all the worthwhile and searching questions outlined above.

Even then it is highly unlikely that any appreciable number of worthless, inefficient or boondoggling programs would be scratched, or cut back heavily. Too many congressmen, bureaucrats and citizens have a vested interest in each program now on the books, however ineffective and costly.

But H.R. 9603 is a nice thought.

Study record not what they say

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As a freshman at Cal Tech years back, I had a professor who regularly told his history class that in a democracy, the talkers rule.

We elect the men who say what we want them to say and promise what we want to hear. Of course, they do not always deliver after the votes are counted.

Our cleanup efforts are based on faulty reasoning.

Common Cause, for one, has mounted what promises to be a multimillion dollar campaign—figures in terms of money and volunteer man hours—to hold candidates feet to the fire.

But this campaign will fail because it heads in the wrong direction. It's based on the premise that hard questions will expose a candidate's true aims and make possible an accurate prediction of what he will do once in office.

Much of the emphasis is on more press conferences, more interviews, more questioning by panels—the questioning to be done by men and women not chosen by the candidate or his people. That is, the emphasis is on more talking—and more promises.

Now I submit that this is a candidate's dream. Since the questioners, by definition, would appear to be impartial or antagonistic, a skillful candidate could, with ease, give the impression the truth was being smoked out. Most experts in public life could handle such situations and come out either looking well, or like a martyr being pilloried by his enemies. Politicians are, by trade, expert wordsmiths. To a great extent, their public views and statements are determined by what polls and advisers say the voters want.

There's a better approach.

By the time a man is old enough to run for president, or for the Senate or House, he's pretty well set in his ways. Very few men change stripes. What they have done or not done in the lesser offices they've held is likely what they'll do or not do when elected to a higher post.

We need, therefore, more impartial studies in depth of the complete voting records of men who have been legislators, not selected votes intended to reinforce the bias of this polling organization or that.

Most importantly, we need complete records on how these men voted in committee on significant legislation.

If he has been in private business or a profession, we need to know how he conducted himself. What kind of assistants did he hire? How did he follow through on customer complaints, if he's a businessman? How did he conduct his cases, if an attorney? What was the quality of his work as a teacher? How did he handle crises? What was his attention to duty? What kind of friends and associates did he attract. What kind or people were his enemies?

If he is, or has been, an incumbent senator or representative, a state legislator, governor or President, what kind of men and women did he choose for his staff? How did they operate? How honest have they been? What were or are their objectives? These people are the real clue to a candidate's character—not what he says.

Then there's his personal financial history—not merely current assets, investments and liabilities. How has he operated? Openly and above board? Has he managed his own finances well and without hanky panky? Does he know the value of a dollar? If he's been a longtime office holder, we need to know if he has increased his wealth inordinately—that is, more than could be reasonably accounted for by prudent management of his reported income.

Has he been active in community efforts? Has he sought titles and left the work to others? Does he repeatedly come up with pipe-dream plans neither he nor anyone else could carry out? Does he start things, drop them and leave others to pick up the pieces? These are the things, usually unreported, that tell us what kind of a man we're dealing with.

San Clemente letter

By TOM TIEDE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter from Richard Nixon to Gerald Ford was inadvertently dropped on the White House lawn by a postman who tripped over a newly erected monument to post-Watergate morality.)

My dear Jerry: Since I had made it perfectly clear when I left office that I was giving the world over to you, and would not try to influence you from the grandstands, I nevertheless must pass on my appreciation to you for what I feel to be your increasing maturity in office.

God knows it would be the easy thing for me to let this matter go, because as you know, I am being hounded by popular demand to spend day and night toward the completion of my important new book, which will once and for all clear up any misunderstanding of the regrettable things done by subordinates in my name during my administration.

But as I said to Chou En-lai when I reestablished relationships with China after 23 years, and as I have said to world greats in many other capitals, including Berlin, Moscow and Windhoek, I must speak out on that which affects America.

I have never doubted for a moment that you understood the importance of presidential leadership. We have both learned this through long years of trial, I, as a congressman, senator, vice president and president, and you in two of the same capacities. Nothing could please the Kremlin more than a second-rate president. That is why I fought so strenuously against overreaction during the Watergate affair, that is why I made my historic stand against judicial encroachment on the office of the presidency. I note now that the American people may at last be realizing this fact also, since polls indicate I'm gaining popularity in such places as Alabama and parts of Vermont.

I must say in all candor, Jerry, there were times I have quietly questioned your decisions. I was never fascinated by Nelson Rockefeller, with his fancy homes, oil wells, and halfhearted support of my 1960 candidacy. Some say this is too harsh an assessment, but I've always played hardball opinion.

Had you asked me at the time, Jerry, I would have counseled against his choice as vice president, and because I have served that capacity myself, for two terms you'll recall, in spite of those of the Eastern line who worked against me, I could have advised you from benefit of experience.

While I am at it, I might also mention that some of the comments of your family members have shocked Mrs. Nixon and myself, though I would not for a minute be surprised if this has been distorted by the leftist press. My concern in this area is the effect on the public, our children having let their moral fiber weaken enough as it is.

America is a great nation, however, and those who doubt it conveniently overlook the fact that we have built the largest shopping centers in the world, as well as automobiles with the roomiest trunk compartments. Forgive me if I sound as if I am campaigning here (I will not run for any office in 1976, you can rest assured, and that is that).

Let me add quickly and parenthetically that I am completely happy in retirement, after 26 years in public life, from 1946 to 1974, inclusive. Stories that I am disappointed because large crowds no longer gather to greet my strolls on the beach, are false. I am swamped with work on my book, which will reveal many things about my administration that were never reported by the media stooges. Besides this, I have Mrs. Nixon; we chuckle often over old times. And Ron Ziegler comes to visit occasionally on a motorbike now, which is odd, but I learned long ago not to be surprised at America's young. Ron says his hog has stars and stripes on the sissy bars and that's good enough for me.

But I have digressed from the purpose of this correspondence, to be duplicated of course, for inclusion in the Nixon Archives, which I understand will be at either the University of California or the Whittier High School library. My intent, earlier on, was to congratulate your firm handling of James Schlesinger. If a man will not kowtow he is not to be trusted. And never mind the (expletive) criticism. I want you to know I would have handled it exactly the same way.

Mrs. Nixon and I send our best to you and your family, except for young Jack, for I can't forgive marijuana. I am enclosing a copy of Six Crises, which I've always found to be of comfort in the loneliness of leadership.—Dick.

Young Oregon farmer receives $1,000 check

Feed lot runoff system built on Nordman farm

By CONNI DETTMAN
Roger Nordman, a young rural Oregon farmer, received a $1,000 check, Monday. Not for winning the lottery or foiling a back robbery, but for his contributions to the farming industry.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency was on hand at the Nordman farm for the presentation from Jim Willrett, Malta, a member of the Beef Industry Council and then to look at the newly built feed lot runoff control system. The demonstration system is one of three systems in northern Illinois and will be used and tested on Nordman's 1,325 head of cattle.

The construction of the feed lot runoff system began in October after several different government officials approved the plans. The system works like this, manure and other pollutants from the cattle will run off pavement down a chute-type structure. The runoff chute was temporarily constructed out of wood and will later be constructed out of concrete. The pollutants collect in a settling basin and from there will exit through slots in the basis where they will go to a holding pond. Once in the holding pond which has not been constructed, the refuse will be piped out to the land for vegetation.

This demonstration project, as well as the one in rural Barry and rural Big Rock, are possible because of a $39,000 United States EPA grant which the Illinois EPA has funneled into a project aimed at determining the best management practice in controlling feed-lot runoff from small open feed lots, according to Jim Franks, Illinois EPA Agricultural Advisor.

Franks and several other officials who helped to make the grant possible, were on hand Monday to check over the system. Others attending the check presentation included Darrel Ivins and Glen Bauls-grove, both of the Soil Conservation Service in Sterling; Dale Vanderholm, a member of the Agriculture Department at the University of Illinois, Champaign; John Tillam, Illinois Livestock Association; Stan Eden, Ogle County Extension Advisor; Jack Gumm, Illinois Livestock Association, Galesburg; John Conroy, SCS, Oregon; and James Willrett, Illinois Livestock Association and the Beef Industry Council.

There is work to be done in the feed lot runoff system but officials plan to make strides in the field of agricultural pollution control by studying the system. Nordman, who began just seven years ago with a farm where only a barn, silo and shed were standing has worked hard to make the agricultural industry what it is today. Now, three more silos have been added and building to house his hundreds of cattle have made these types of research projects necessary.

James Willrett, Malta, a member of the Illinois Livestock Association and the Beef Industry Council, left, presents a $1,000 check to Roger Nordman, rural Oregon. Nordman received the check to help aid the construction of a feed lot runoff control system. The check was presented Monday on the Nordman farm where area and state officials gathered to inspect the new system. (Telegraph Photo)

Snow filled the temporary chute where pollutants from the feed lot will run off and go into the settling basin. From here the refuse will drain into a holding pond and will later be used in a vegetation system on the land. (Telegraph Photo)

Ace High, grand champion at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, visited Sterling Monday where he was on display at the Coliseum.

Gruhn, Ace High honored Monday

The grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition, raised by a 17-year-old Lanark youth, paid a visit to the Sterling Coliseum Monday.

Ace High, the 1,230 pound steer that took the coveted honors on Dec. 1, is a Chianina-Angus cross. Greg Gruhn purchased the steer from Kansas City as a 688-pound calf, at a price of 29 cents per pound. The sale price Greg received after Ace High won the championship was $11.75 per pound.

Although that price was well under the $15 per pound last year's champion received, the total of $15,040 Greg received was substantially above the going market price of 47 cents a pound. The highest per pound price ever received was $30 which the 1957 grand champion brought.

The 17-year-old Gruhn was honored with a luncheon at the Sterling Holiday Inn. Greg received several awards, including a $5,000 check from the American Chianina Association. On hand at the banquet were nearly 100 community leaders, plus friends and relatives of the Lanark youth.

Gruhn is a senior at Lanark High School. He is active in 4-H, Future Farmers of America, as well as athletics and other school activities. He entertains no present plans for college, but hopes to remain in the cattle business. His prize winnings are earmarked for the development of a herd of beef.

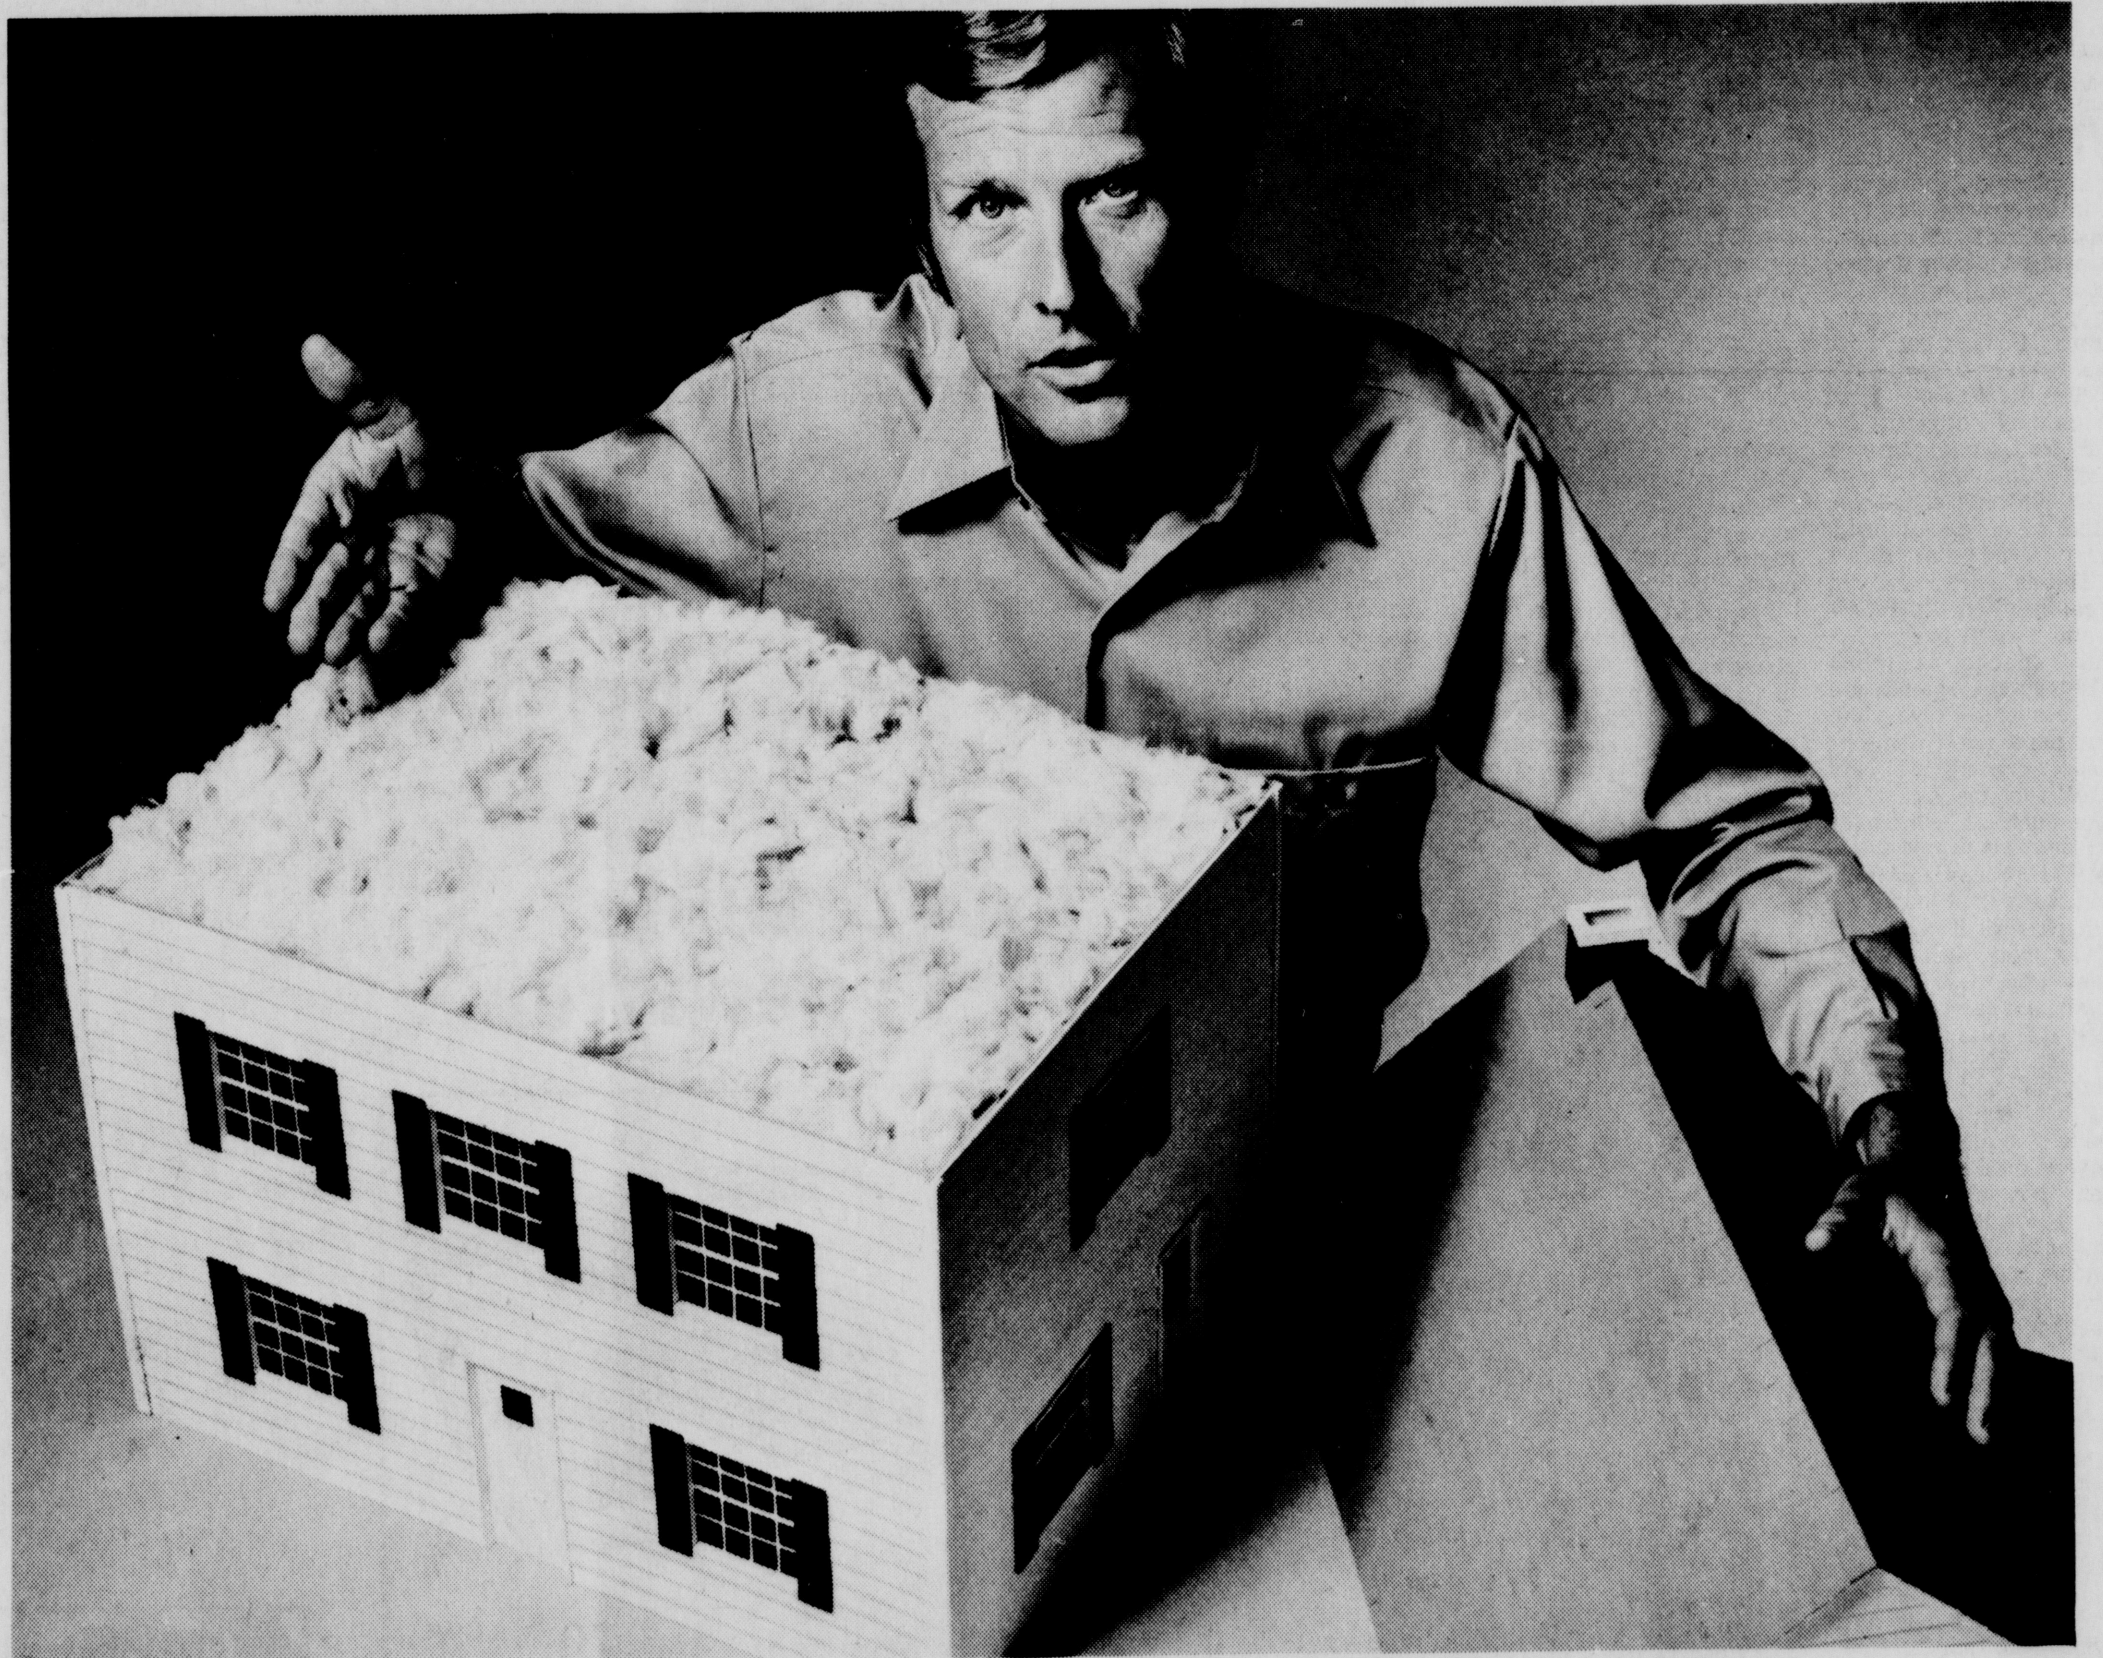

Also present at the day's festivities was Marsha Chamberlain, the recently crowned Illinois Beef Queen from Lyndon.

Ace High is the first steer from Carroll County to be named grand champion in 35 years.

He represents the trend in champion steers with emphasis on cross-breeding for characteristics of rapid growth and meatiness with economic use of feed.

The steer is to be exhibited, along with other exposition champions, at the Lincoln Park Zoo. It was purchased by a group of Chicago meat packing and provision companies headed by Walter T. Mander, president of Lincoln Meat Co.

A special offer that can save you up to 30% on heating and cooling costs.

NI-Gas will insulate your ceiling and give you up to 3 years to pay.

Part of the cost of heating your home may be going right through the ceiling. Because your ceiling is inadequately insulated.

If you are a NI-Gas residential heating customer, a NI-Gas insulation contractor will inspect your attic free. If it needs insulation, our contractor will recommend the amount and tell you what it will cost.

Then, if you agree, he'll install the amount of blown fiber glass insulation you select.

Installation is quick, quiet, clean. And you start enjoying the benefits immediately: a more comfortable home, winter and summer, and up to 30% savings on heating and cooling costs. Not just this year, but for as long as you own your home.

When installation is complete, you have 30 days to pay NI-Gas the full amount. Or you can use our convenient financing plan and take up to 3 years to pay at an annual percentage rate of 15%. Typical example: If an installation is made for a cash price of $200 and is paid for over 18 months at the annual percentage rate of 15%, you would make 17 monthly payments of $12.48 each and a final payment of $12.43 for a total deferred payment price of $224.59. The terms would, of course, vary depending on the cost of the installation, and the period over which payment is made. No down payment would be required; however, the maximum cash price amount which would be financed is $500, and the required minimum monthly payment is $10.00.

The availability of financing in any individual case is subject to credit approval by NI-Gas.

This offer expires April 30, 1976. So mail the coupon now. The sooner you do, the sooner you start to save energy and money.

Homemade items for holiday fun

By JUDY LOVE
Christmastime calls for special festivities and holiday fun the whole family can share. Making your own gifts and decorations helps get everyone into the spirit of the season.

We've found a table set that will give your family pleasure to make and to use for many holidays to come. You crochet the placemats in red, green and white. Worked with basic single crochet stitches, it would be a perfect first project for teaching a beginner and you could help the novice with the lacy edging. The matching napkin ring and pompon tree are for nimble-fingered kids (or adults) to whip up from snippets of yarn.

You'll need a colorful, washable yarn like Malin's Wear-Dated Acrylic knitting worsted, a size I crochet hook and a few supplies from the five-and-ten.

For two placemats, we used three skeins of red and one skein each of white and green. Each napkin ring takes five yards of red and one yard of either green or white yarns from the end of the placemat skeins, some glue and a 1½-inch section from the end of the cardboard roll found in paper towels or aluminum foil. The pompon tree takes one skein of red and one skein of green yarn, a plastic foam cone about 12 to 16 inches high, and a box of extra-long straight pins. Make a few extra pompons to decorate packages or to use as Christmas tree ornaments. They'll last longer than glass balls and are much safer with small children around.

Instructions for the placemats, napkin rings and pompon tree can be ordered by sending 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for leaflet S435 and be sure to enclose your name, address and zip code.

Knit-Knacks
Dear Readers: Many of you have written requesting we give suggestions for making holiday gifts. I think everyone appreciates a hand-made gift—the time and thought involved means more than any expensive gift could. Following are a few suggestions:

What grandmother wouldn't love a top sheet and matching pillow cases in her favorite color and design with a two- or three-inch hand-crocheted edging added? For someone who travels select a special needlepoint scene using beads instead of just yarn. It makes it much more interesting and also adds another special touch. (This is done by using beads and regular No. 50 mercerized sewing thread instead of needlepoint yarn. Or, you can use both beads and yarn stitches for an even more different look.) Children love to help make decorations. Why not get lots of plastic foam balls, yarns, beads, sequins, glue and turn the kids loose. Another lovely item is a nut tree. You need a cone-shaped plastic foam form, several different kinds of nuts and a glue to glue the nuts to the form—fitting the various shapes and sizes of nuts around each other. After you are finished, spray with a clear varnish to give it a gloss. Set on a plate with greens around it. Now, take your pick and get busy. With our lovely table setting ideas and the additional projects mentioned there is something for every member of the family to take part in for a happy holiday season—Best, Judy Love.

Second beauty salon poll shows women have the same concerns in '75

ST. LOUIS, Mo.— For the second consecutive year, the three national issues of most concern to the American woman are (1) the economy, (2) confidence in government, and (3) crime, according to the second annual national issues poll conducted by the 64,000 member National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, headquartered here.

More than 23,000 American women in 39 states and the District of Columbia were polled in the nation's beauty salons between Oct. 5-18, 1975. While sitting in the salon waiting rooms and under dryers, American women rated 10 listed subjects in order of preference from 1 to 10.

The American woman who frequents the beauty salon rated her first three preferences in the same order as she did in the national association's first poll conducted in October of 1974.

The seven other subjects named on the poll, and the order in which the American woman listed these items, are: (4) energy; (5) taxes; (6) too many increases in welfare programs; (7) disarmament; (8) protection of the environment; (9) too much influence and effect of labor unions; (10) too much influence and effect of news media.

The number 4 and number 5 preferences switched places from last year, when "taxes" received the number 4 spot, and "energy" was number 5. "Too many increases in welfare programs," a new item added to this year's poll, received the number 6 spot which was held by "protection of privacy" last year.

"Disarmament," the number 7 item, moved up from number 8, and "protection of environment" switched from number 7 to number 8.

The last two rated items on this year's poll—"too much influence and effect of labor unions" and "too much influence and effect of the news media"—were new items of interest added to this year's poll. The two, which received the least attention by America's women, replaced "national health insurance" and "conditional amnesty for American draft evaders," the least two rated items on last year's poll.

Mrs. Jonnie McCoy of Ft. Worth, Tex., president of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, said that the poll was conducted again "to let legislators in Washington know what the women of America think concerning today's issues."

Results of the poll are being sent to President Gerald R. Ford and members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives.

The 23,000 national issue questionnaires tallied by the association were rated and totaled according to each woman's preference. An issue receiving first preference received 10 points, the second preference received nine points, and each respectively itemized issue received a lesser point.

MAKING COLOR

When you want a change of color in eyeshadow, try creating your own from the ones on hand. Blue and red, for example, make purple. Blue and yellow produce green.

Homemakers News

By FRANCES G. REEVERS
Lee Co. Extension Adviser

With almost everything either in short supply or higher priced, Americans are finding ways to obtain more from their resources.

This type of thinking can easily apply to the task of stretching the food budget for the holidays.

Food prices are changing so rapidly, that the food-buying guidelines and habits we've used as a basis for wise shopping may no longer hold true.

How then can we stretch our holiday food dollar by saving dollars in planning and saving dollars in the grocery store.

Saving Dollars in Planning

Plan menus and shop for food at least a week at a time. Be sure to include as many servings of the Basic Four Food Groups as you can in each day's meals. The Basic Four Food Groups are the meat group, the vegetable-fruit group, the milk group and the bread-cereal group. By planning ahead you can often save money using leftovers in another day's meals. This is a way you can justify calling them "planned-overs" and not left overs.

Include snacks in menu plans. Homemade snacks are usually less expensive than those you purchase. When food dollars are limited, it's very important for snacks to be nutritious such as homemade oatmeal cookies or peanut butter cookies with raisins and milk-based drinks or fruit juices and fruit drinks with vitamins added. As you plan menus, check newspaper ads for weekly specials and sales. This is a good way to obtain ideas for menus, too. You can save money by taking advantage of sales if the store is nearby, if the food is of a quality that will satisfy your needs, if you have sufficient storage space and it is not a perishable food. Remember that you waste, not save money when you buy a sale item your family won't eat! Check local newspapers to find out which days grocery ads appear. Use seasonal foods or those that are in plentiful supply when preparing menus. And be sure to make a shopping list; write down items as you think of them through the week. Group the items in the order you find them in your store to save time and steps in the store.

Planning for your food needs throughout the holidays will help you spread out the purchasing of extra food over several weeks. It is even better to start in early fall to pick up extra food items that are staple foods so you know you will have them available at holiday time.

Saving Dollars in The Grocery Store

Two ingredients in a successful and dollar-saving trip to the grocery store are time and attention. It does take longer to do comparison shopping and it does need your undivided attention.

One food-buying rule-of-thumb has been, "You pay less per unit of food when you purchase the larger size." Now it will pay to compare prices to be sure. Prices may change relatively more on one size than on another. In a recent comparison of one product, the larger size was half again as much per ounce as the smaller one. You will need to do your own comparison shopping as it will depend upon the article you are purchasing.

You should also compare prices on the different forms of a food. Foods which used to be cheaper in one form may suddenly be more expensive than they were in another form. For example, dry beans may have increased in price more rapidly than beans already cooked and in the can.

Also, food which used to cost less or very little more in a convenience form, may suddenly be cheaper to make yourself. For example, the next time you shop, compare prices between homemade, frozen, refrigerated and ready-to-eat bread and rolls.

If you buy convenience foods, compare the kind of time you are "buying." Sometimes you save "active" time; time spent in preparing food, such as chopping, mixing and cleanup. Sometimes you save "inactive" time; time in which you don't have to concentrate on the food while it's being prepared. You can do something else while the food is baking, thawing, chilling or simmering. You need to become well acquainted with store brands where you shop frequently. Store brands continue to cost less than name brands.

Become well-acquainted with the stores you shop in. Be alert to usual prices so you will know when a special sale is really "special."

Although price is a major concern comparing products, other factors should also be considered. For instance, check the label for nutritive value and other information. When you have a choice, choose enriched or whole grain cereal foods instead of unenriched; orange drinks and beverages equal to orange juice in vitamin C content.

Be aware of the many ways that you may stretch the holiday food dollars.

Attention! Prospective brides

Because of misunderstanding on wedding pictures. The Telegraph is asking prospective brides to arrange for good black-and-white wedding pictures for use with wedding stories.

Color photographs and black-and-white prints off a color negative are unsatisfactory for good newspaper reproduction.

Rather than be disappointed by having a picture rejected by the newspaper, we are advising brides to insist on a black-and-white picture shot with black-and-white film.

Let's Talk About Decorating
By BEVERLEY CAPON
What About Wallpaper?

Wallpaper is an important decorating tool that can add color, interest and design to a room. One of the reasons wallpaper is enjoying such popularity in today's decorating circles is that it's available in a number of lovely colors and patterns. You can purchase wallpaper in stripes, floral prints, geometric designs, street or country scenes and much more. There is also the popular grasscloth wallpaper which looks great as a backdrop for Oriental and other types of furnishings.

Consider a wallpaper mural for a wall where a sense of depth is needed. An attractive wallpaper scene can also be a focal point that adds interest to your room.

If you're furnishing a new home or redecorating your present home. Stop in at Dunbar's today. We have a marvelous selection of quality furnishings at prices you can afford.

Victim of child molesting says children need early education

Dear Ann Landers: I have struggled with this letter for several days, trying to put it into language you can print. This is the best I can do. The subject: Relatives and the Sexual Exploitation of Children.

I am 23 now and have vivid memories of three such experiences. The first was an uncle. I was only 6 years old at the time. He followed me into the bathroom when we were alone in the house and took sexual liberties with me. I was warned not to say anything to anyone or something "bad" would happen to me. I didn't realize what he was doing and was just plain terrified. I never told a soul.

The second encounter was with my own father when I was 11 years of age. I would rather not go into the details of that soul-searing experience. I never told anyone about it because I was afraid it might destroy my mother.

The third was a friend of my parents. I was 14. He was drunk, had passed out in our house during a party and came to my bedroom at dawn. It's hard to believe I was so naive. I never told a soul what happened. I realize now I could have become pregnant.

I will be 23 years of age next week and just lost a boyfriend I really cared about. Our romance lasted only three months because I'm afraid to let a man get close to me.

How can these hideous experiences be avoided? The answer is education. Parents should talk freely to their children about the sanctity and privacy of their bodies. Children should be instructed at an early age (four isn't too soon) not to allow anyone — friend, neighbor, or relative — to take liberties with their bodies. Moreover, children should be told that if anyone tries to get intimate to report it to a parent at once.

I know now that I was severely damaged by those early sexual experiences. I know, too, that every day some innocent child is being exploited in every state in the union. Please, Ann, print this letter and help open the eyes of both parents and children. It's a wonderful opportunity to education millions. Thank you.

— A Victim

Dear Friend: You are the one who should be thanked. I hope every parent and child who reads this column will pay close attention.

You didn't ask for any personal advice but I feel compelled to offer it. If you haven't considered therapy to help resolve the problems created by your early traumatic experiences, I hope you will do so immediately.

Dear Ann Landers: A close friend has taken up oil painting as a hobby. She claims it has done her more good than three years with a shrink. Last week she surprised us with a house-gift — a beautifully framed monstrosity for our living room.

The canvas is enormous and the painting looks like either a barn that has caught fire or an industrial accident — depending on your imagination. My husband says we MUST hang it for a while at least. I can't bear the thought, yet I'd hate to hurt her feelings. She's a dear person. Please advise. — TORN

Dear Torn: Sounds like a great conversation piece. Hang it for a while — then rotate your art (many people do this) and move the picture to a closet shelf.

Debut of forcing two bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby
The forcing two bid with the bust two notrump response was invented by Theodore Lightner, Waldemar von Zedtwitz and Oswald Jacoby back in 1929. Here is a hand that led us to that invention.

Jacoby, who sat South, opened one spade. He hoped that he would get a second chance and he did when the unfortunate East player reopened with two clubs. Young Jacoby simply jumped to seven hearts.

The bid was spectacular and quite unsound, but it succeeded because North held four hearts and two spades. North actually held the heart queen, but all he needed was four hearts.

Experts used it for about 20 years and then started to get away from it because of two weaknesses. The first was that you used four bids to cover the few hands that warranted an opening force. The second, that the negative two notrump response tended to make the Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Ross Funeral Home. Burial will be in Walnut Cemetery. Visitation will be from 7 to 9 p.m. today at the funeral home in Walnut.

More than 600 file petitions

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The eight-day filing period for candidates for state, congressional, legislative and judicial offices is under way.

An estimated 600 sets of nominating petitions were filed with the state Board of Elections on Monday, the first day of the filing period which ends next Monday.

Board chairman Franklin J. Lunding Jr. said some 300 candidates appeared at the board's Springfield office to file, while another 300 sets of petitions were mailed to the board.

Statewide offices such as governor, the state's 24 congressional seats, 40 of the 59 state Senate seats and all 177 state House seats are at stake next year.

Petitions submitted in person when the board opened at 8 a.m. and those received in the mail by the starting time will be considered to have been filed simultaneously.

The candidates who are first to submit petitions for most offices will be listed first on the primary election ballot in March. Ballot positions for those who file simultaneously for the same office will be determined by a lottery Dec. 19, Lunding said.

Arts Council meets Thursday

The Sauk Area Arts Council will meet on Thursday, at 8 p.m., in the board room at Sauk Valley College.

All interested persons are urged to attend. Plans for the upcoming festival in February will be the main order of business. For more information call Mrs. Milly Cole, president, 626-4416 or 625-2241.

In final action, the board canvassed the votes of the Dec. 6 school referendum in which voters approved a tax increase in the Educational Fund.

Rash of thefts reported

Thieves have been busy in Dixon recently as several reports of thefts were reported to local authorities Monday.

Joel Peterson, 717 Dixon Ave., told Dixon Police that a spare tire valued at $28 was taken from his car.

Cheryl Hollis, 1323 Woodlawn Ave., reported the theft of a coat, a purse, and a small amount of change from her Dixon High School locker. Her loss was estimated at $55.

A snow shovel was taken from the front porch of Steven Tetric, 1404 W. Third St.

Beth Heuer reported that outdoor Christmas tree lights were stolen from her 511 Peoria Avenue residence.

Joe Burke, China Township Road Commissioner found wrenches to have been stolen. The wrenches were valued at $50-$60.

Traffic mishap brings charge

Dixon Police charged Bonnie M. Bollman, 30, Rt. 2, with improperly starting a parked vehicle Monday afternoon.

The traffic ticket was the result of an accident on the 100 block of South Peoria Avenue. Officers reported that Bollman pulled out of a parking slot into the path of a car headed north and driven by Matthew Finnican, 16, Sterling.

No injuries were reported.

Polo Board hires teacher

POLO—Approval of a teaching contract for Gene Brown to serve as industrial arts teacher was granted Monday night by the Polo School Board of Education. Brown will begin his duties Monday and will receive a salary of $11,520.

The board approved the purchase of bags and foam rubber for the high jump and pole vault pits of the high school track team. The cost of the equipment will be $655.

In final action, the board canvassed the votes of the Dec. 6 school referendum in which voters approved a tax increase in the Educational Fund.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
To Ralph Ringenberg, today.

Centel and union start talks today

Contract negotiations between Central Telephone Company of Illinois and IBEW Local 196 were scheduled to get underway today in Dixon.

The present bargaining agreement between Centel and the 117 employees represented by Local 196 expires Jan. 1.

Preliminary letters outlining the items to be discussed have already been exchanged between the two sides, in accordance with the present bargaining agreement.

The bargaining committee representing Centel includes J. C. Magness, labor relations manager for CTU; Larry L. Schauer, labor relations assistant; Charles Eskrich, division labor relations administration; J. S. Vanderwoude, division personnel-public relations manager; J. K. Hyatt, Dixon plant superintendent; and John Gibbins, division labor relations representative.

Members of the bargaining committee representing IBEW Local 196 include Chief Steward George Balayit, cable splicer; Louie Wolfe, testboard; Dan Nelson, COE; Don Grimes, engineering clerk; Kathy Fulrath, traffic; Milo Ree, Savanna cable splicer; and Nancy Rambo, traffic.

Phone tax drops again

It's a rare occurrence these days when taxes go down. But once again, telephone users will benefit from a one per cent reduction in the federal excise tax levied on their telephone bill, according to Central Telephone Company of Illinois.

Effective Jan. 1, the federal excise tax rate on charges for applicable communications services will be reduced from seven per cent to six per cent.

The tax is applied to both monthly service and message charges, including long distance.

This change is the fourth step of a 10-year reduction schedule calling for successive one per cent rate reductions on the first of each year until Jan. 1, 1982.

At that time the federal excise tax on communications services is scheduled to be fully repealed. The phase-out schedule was enacted as part of the Excise, Estate and Gift Tax Adjustment Act of 1970.

McDonald's still seeks Dixon site

McDonald's restaurant chain officials are continuing their land search for the location of a restaurant in Dixon, with the latest site under study at 203-211 N. Galeana Ave.

Earlier reports indicated another location, in the 600 block of North Galeana Avenue, was under study.

One official said a soil survey is all that remains to be completed before a contract is finalized for purchase of four lots comprising the 203-211 N. Galeana location. The property is properly zoned for the commercial concern.

In final action, the board canvassed the votes of the Dec. 6 school referendum in which voters approved a tax increase in the Educational Fund.

The Ogle County Taxpayers Association will meet Thursday, at 7:30 p.m., at the Beret Building in Leaf River. Plans will be made for future meetings.

Conroy seeks Demo nomination as circuit clerk

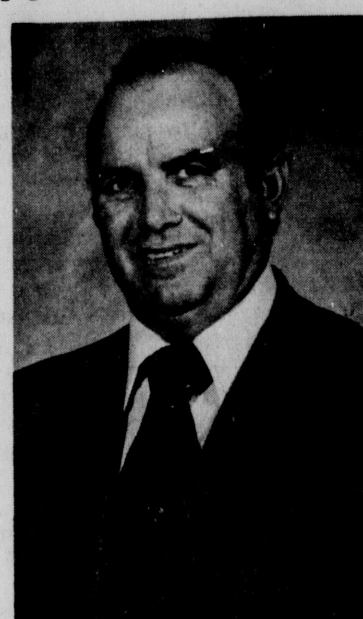

Edward J. Conroy today announced he is a Democratic candidate for circuit clerk of Lee County.

In commenting about the office, Conroy said, "Lee County has been well served in the manner the circuit clerk, Harold Huffman, has conducted the affairs of his office. In seeking this office I would strive to continue that exemplary service, always receptive to the needs of the county. My relationship with the judiciary of Lee County and many judges outside the county is one of cooperation and congeniality."

Conroy has been twice elected to the County Board of Lee County and has taken an active part in local governmental affairs.

Conroy is a lifelong resident of Lee County and married to the former Rita Gardner, residing at 805 Peoria Ave. They are the parents of four daughters and one son.

Conroy is a graduate of Loras College, Dubuque, Iowa, with a B.A. degree in philosophy. He did graduate work at Loyola University, Chicago, in the field of educational counseling. He is a veteran of the Korean War, having served in the United States Army as a Sgt. Major of the 1301st Medical Detachment. He has 18 years of business experience in Dixon and is currently a life insurance broker. He is a member and past president of the Dixon Library.

EDWARD CONROY

Board, past president of Dixon Gryo Club, past grand knight of Dixon Knights of Columbus and a past trustee and lay consultant of St. Patrick's Church. He has been a member of the Advisory Board of the Newman Center at Northern Illinois University.

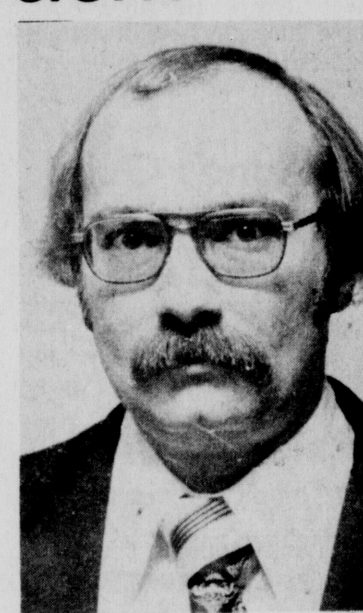

He is a past chairman of the Retail Bureau of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, a member of Dixon American Legion and, for many years, active in selecting the American Legion Award given to students of various schools in Dixon School District.

Fischer is candidate for circuit clerk

Terry Fischer, 104 Patrick Court, announced today his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to the office of Lee County Circuit Clerk.

A graduate of Dixon High School, Fischer served for four years in the U.S. Air Force and is presently attending Sauk Valley College where he is majoring in business management.

When announcing his candidacy, Fischer stated, "As a young citizen, I am concerned about the state of affairs in this country, and I believe change is necessary at all levels of government. In recent history we have learned that the system does not work by itself. The people within the system must make it work. In running for this office, I am confident of my ability to accept the challenge and responsibility of serving the people of Lee County in this capacity."

Meetings on referendum planned

ASHTON—A series of public meetings was planned to discuss the upcoming school tax referendum at the regular meeting of the Ashton School Board Monday night.

Dec. 22 at 7:30 p.m. and Jan. 7 at 2 p.m., were set for the meeting dates. Both meetings will be held in the all-purpose room of the Ashton High School.

Voters in the Ashton School district will vote Jan. 10 on a 40-cent tax increase for school district funds.

In other action, the board voted to employ Mrs. Jan Dallam, Amboy, for the second semester as the girls' physical education teacher. Mrs. Dallam will replace Mrs. Kathy Whitney, who resigned and is moving out of state.

The board voted to advertise for bids on a new school bus. Bids will be opened Jan. 19.

Saddle club honors winner

AMBOY — The Green River Saddle Club held its annual banquet at the clubhouse Saturday night and new officers and high-point trophy winners were announced.

Named to serve the club for the coming year were: Orle Bonnell, re-elected president; Douglas Blaine, vice president; Sue Cook, secretary; Kathy Kessel, corresponding secretary; Anna Mae Bonnell, treasurer; Jane Bonnell, advertising chairman.

Junior member high-point trophy for the year was presented to Holly White, LaSalle, and senior member high-point trophy and also senior high-point trophy for all participants went to Ray White, LaSalle. The junior high points in all events was a tie between Kurt and Lorri Kessel.

Greetings were brought to the club by Charles Domier, Rockton; H. Stoker, president of the Fulton Saddle Club; Jerry Stoncifer, and V. O. Bonnell, mayor of Sublette, who announced the bicentennial celebration on June 18-19 and 20 with Saddle Club members sponsoring a horse show on the 18th and taking part in the parade on the 20th.

Lawnmower causes fire alarm

COMPTON—The Compton Fire Department answered a call Monday to the Bill Cox home, where a lawnmower caused minor fire damage. According to reports, the lawnmower was being cleaned before being stored for the winter when a fire started and filled the garage with smoke. Compton fire fighters were on the scene for a short time.

Senior Party Line

Will my wife, children or other relatives have to pay inheritance taxes on the full value of the property that I leave to them?—I.B.

Dear Mr. B:

The amount of inheritance tax your family and other relatives will have to pay depends on the monetary value of the property you give to them. It also depends, quite frankly, on who gets what.

For example, there is no tax on the first $20,000 in real or personal property if you transfer it to your spouse, children, grandchildren, adopted children and others. Property having a value of greater than $20,000 is then taxed at rates ranging from 2 to 14 per cent. There is no tax on the first $10,000 in transferred property if it goes to a brother or sister.

For property given to uncles, aunts, nephews, nieces and first cousins, the first $500 in value is exempt from the inheritance tax and anything above that is taxed at rates of 6 to 16 per cent. The exemption is only $100 for a third class of relatives, including a divorced spouse, foster children, mother-in-law and father-in-law, and friends. Gifts to charitable, educational and religious groups may be totally exempt from the tax.

In Illinois this year the legislature approved three bills to increase the inheritance tax exemptions to $40,000 and as much as $75,000 for the most immediate relatives, including the surviving spouse and children. However, all three bills were vetoed, and the vetoes were sustained. A new bill was just introduced to double the exemption for the spouse and children to $40,000.

How can I find out where the nearest Social Security office is? There is no such office in my community.—V.L.

Dear Mrs. L:

The Social Security Administration has Illinois district offices in Alton, Aurora, Berwyn, Bloomington, Cairo, Carbondale, Champaign, Chicago (nine locations), Danville, Decatur, E. St. Louis, Effingham, Elgin, Elmwood Park, Evanston, Freeport, Galesburg, Glenview, Harrisburg, Harvey, Joliet, Kankakee, Mt. Vernon, Peoria, Peru, Quincy, Rockford, Rock Island, Springfield, Sterling and Waukegan.

In addition to these district offices, Social Security sends representatives to smaller communities within the area to answer questions. This is done at a post office or other public building. Try calling your local post office and ask when the Social Security representatives are in town. You can also call the city or town hall, or call on the Senior Action HOTLINE and we'll help you track the information you need.

Special Note: A few weeks ago this column promised to report on final action taken in Congress to extend the senior citizens' programs supported by the Older Americans Act. Both houses of Congress have now approved an extension of the programs through June 30, 1978. States will have to spend a certain portion of their federal funds on four priority services—transportation, in-home services, legal aid, and home repairs.

The new legislation also continues the Retired Senior Volunteer Program and Foster Grandparents and expands other community service employment programs for older citizens.

Illinois has more than 40 nutrition projects (group meals for seniors) and more than 100 social service projects which are supported by the Older Americans Act, which was passed originally in 1965. The U.S. Department of Agriculture will be contributing more in the way of food commodities to nutrition sites under the new, expanded program. Priority in the funding of "model" projects will be given to the delivery of services to low-income and minority seniors; senior ombudsman services; and the creation of ambulatory adult day care centers.

Persons may call the toll-free Senior Action Hotline 800-252-6565 with questions or complaints about government agencies or programs or for information about tax relief, health care, food stamps, Social Security, employment, housing or legal aid.

In Dixon persons may call the Lee County Council for Aging 288-2117.

Fawell seeking nomination to Supreme Court

State Senator Harris W. Fawell (R-Naperville) today announced that he will seek the Republican nomination for Judge of the Illinois Supreme Court in the Second Judicial District.

"I recognize that this decision is a reversal of my previous decision to remain in the general practice of law and in my State Senate seat," Fawell said. "When Circuit Judge Alfred Woodward, Wheaton, decided that he would not be a candidate for the State Supreme Court vacancy, many persons from throughout the Second Judicial District urged me to reconsider," Fawell explained. "I believe that my legislative experience, my 23 years in the general practice of law and my temperament well equip me to meet the challenges of this office. I will conduct a positive, vigorous campaign to win the Republican nomination and the election," Fawell added.

Fawell is the senior partner of the law firm of Fawell, James and Brooks, of Naperville. He is 47 years of age and has actively practiced law in the counties of DuPage, Kane, Will and Kendall counties for 23 years. For five years he was a state prosecutor in the State's Attorney's office in Wheaton.

For 13 of those 23 years Fawell has served in the Illinois State Senate. His specialties in the legislature were in school law and park district law. In 1973 he authored a redraft of Article 11 of the school code dealing with the creation of new school districts.

Nobel Peace Laureate

This Soviet dissident is the winner of the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize, scheduled to be awarded tomorrow in Oslo, Norway. The 54-year-old physicist, who helped develop the Soviet hydrogen bomb, is the first Russian to be named to this honor since the peace prize was established in 1901. But the Kremlin has opposed his trip to Oslo. An outspoken critic of the Russian political system, he was cited by the Nobel committee for his continuing battle for peace, human rights, and justice. In 1974, when President Nixon visited Russia, the Nobel laureate was on a hunger strike to protest "brutal treatment" of Soviet political prisoners.

DO YOU KNOW — Who is this 1975 Nobel Peace laureate?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — Death Valley, California, had a record high temperature of 134 degrees in 1913.

Industrial park in Rochelle okayed

ROCHELLE—Approval to a zoning request which will establish the Rochelle Tollway Industrial Park was given on a 3-2 vote, following a heated discussion at the Rochelle City Council meeting Monday night.

Approval of the request was given to John Nink Sr., owner of the 58.4-acre parcel south of the Standard Oil Road and west of South Main Street. Nink told the council he would set up a buffer zone between the industrial area and the subdivision and would donate land to the park district and to the Judo Club. A petition signed by 37 persons objected to the zoning request. The group expressed concern about land value depreciation and the need for a school in that area. They also questioned if Nink would keep his promises concerning the land's development.

Commissioners Clarence Rasmussen and Page Weeks voted against the request.

Seven resolutions and ordinances were passed in other action for the extension of Caron Road. The 70 per cent-funded federal project will cost $350,-

000. The road will be extended from Seventh to First Avenue. Thirty per cent of the cost of the project will be paid for by county and city funds.

A bid from Detroit Bullit Trap, Shaumburg, was accepted for the construction of a shooting range at the Rochelle Police Department. The cost of the shooting range is $17,900. The bid was accepted over a lower bid from Casswell Manufacturing Co., Minneapolis, Minn., because of its safer qualities for persons shooting.

The council voted to advertise for bids the sale of a one-ton utility truck. Bids for the 1965 Chevy are to be turned in to the Superintendent of the Utilities office, 120 N. Seventh St., by 1 p.m. Dec. 19.

Police Chief Winston Brass told the council a grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission was approved. The grant, for $29,624, allows the police department to hire a full-time social worker to work with juveniles, alcohol cases, mental problems and domestic problems.

International Night planned at 4-H Center

AMBOY—Two Lee County 4-H members who participated in international exchange programs during 1975 will be featured at an International Night, at 7 p.m. Friday, at the 4-H Center.

Kathy Hobbs, Amboy, LABO delegate to Japan, will tell of her month abroad which included a stay at the Olympic Center, eating with chopsticks, feasting on octopus and living with a family which spoke no English.

Mary Lahman, Franklin Grove, lived with six Finnish families. She will share her experiences in the land of the midnight sun via a multi-media presentation. Occupations of her host families included lumbering, fishing, and farming. Both Kathy and Mary have brought back numerous artifacts typical of the countries they visited.

The program for the evening will also include holiday customs from overseas, international games and a buffet refreshment table featuring foreign foods.

The meeting is open to the public. There is no charge.

After a 37-21 win at Ottawa

Duke wrestlers are 2-0

OTTAWA — Pins by Andy Allen, Jim Magnafici and Mike McDonald highlighted a 37-21 victory by the Dixon Dukes varsity wrestling team, here, Saturday over the Ottawa Pirates. The win improved Dixon's season record to 2-0.

Allen, the Dukes sophomore 98-pounder stuck his second opponent in as many matches when he pinned Ray Judy in 5:26. Allen, who had a 1:13 fall versus Rochelle on Friday in the season opener, had a 16-2 lead before the pin. Allen had a 4-0 lead after the first period and upped his advantage to 9-2 in the second.

Jim Magnafici flattened Bret Burford in 1:00 at 119. Magnafici upped his slate to 2-0 and had a two-point takedown before the pin. McDonald, who lost via a pin on Friday, turned the tables on Ottawa foe Mike Johnson for a stick at 4:24. McDonald was trailing 4-0 (2-0 on a first-period takedown plus another two-point reverse in the second frame) before getting a reverse and the pin.

Dixon swept the initial four matches starting with Allen and ending with Magnafici. John Green added a superior decision at 105 with a 10-2 pounding of Tim Snyders. The only points Green allowed were on a first-period escape while the Dukes senior amassed a takedown, two near falls and a reverse. Joe Green contributed a 5-1 victory at 112 with a pair of takedowns and an escape versus Jay Fuller. The only Fuller marker was a third-period escape. Both John Green and Joe Green are also 2-0 for the season.

The home team got its initial points as Mike Snyders defeated Rick Jordan 6-2 at 126. Jordan could manage only a predicament in the middle period while Snyders accumulated a takedown, a reverse and a predicament. Jordan is now 1-1.

Gary Magnafici got the three points back at 132 with a 4-0 decision over Goog Charbonneau. Magnafici had a reverse and a predicament in upping his record to 2-0. Gary wrestled at 126 on Friday.

Junior Steve Brandau improved his ledger to an identical 2-0 via an 8-6 triumph at 138 against Dave Hershey. Brandau had a takedown and predicament for four points countered by Hershey's escape and takedown for three in the initial period. Both wrestlers picked up a reverse in the second frame. Brandau sealed his win with another reverse in the final period.

At 145, Dixon's Steve Lybarger got an easy win as the Pirates forfeited. Lybarger is now 2-0. McDonald evened his record at 1-1 with the fall at 155. It improved the Dixon advantage to 37-3 and turned out to be the final points of the match for the Dukes.

Sophomore Jeff Fane was pinned in 4:31 by John Poggi at 167, another sophomore Tim Brandenburg was stuck at the :55 mark at 185 while Dixon forfeited the heavyweight class to Frank Barnes.

The Dixon sophomores fell behind 17-2 after the initial four matches and dropped a 29-25 verdict to the Ottawa underclassmen. The Dukelets rallied to take a 25-23 lead but Ottawa got a fall in the final match to pull out the victory.

Rick Pyse at 138 and Randy Van Oosten at 185 had pins for Dixon while Jeff Nagy (126) and Jim Mazrimas (132) recorded superior decisions with triumphs of 17-3 and 14-2, respectively. Keith Carr contributed a 4-4 tie and Tim Ford a 3-2 win at 155.

Keith Baker lost a 4-0 decision at 98, Dave Kennedy dropped a 6-1 verdict at 145, while Eric Zyglauer was edged 1-0 at 167. Ted Henson (105), Jody Moeller (119) and heavyweight Doug Rowland all lost by pins.

The loss levels the sophomore record at 1-1. Both the varsity and sophomores will now host their first match of the campaign on Friday when the Sterling Golden Warriors visit Lancaster Gymnasium. The action starts at 6:30 p.m.

The Dukes will also be at home Saturday when they host Rockford East and Rockford Guilford beginning at 10 a.m.

Amboy wrestlers

Six lettermen at Amboy

AMBOY — Six lettermen including two sophomores, three juniors and a senior are on hand to form the nucleus of the varsity team for the Amboy Clippers and head coach Jim Mahar for the 1975-76 season.

Mahar has 37 wrestlers out including a dozen freshmen, 10 sophomores, 10 juniors and five seniors. Returning lettermen are senior Rich Klein at 138, juniors Butch Morrissey and Kevin Sporleder both at 119 plus heavyweight Tim Taylor along with sophomores Doug Klein (98) and Bob McKnight (105).

Rich Klein was 10-14 last season, Morrissey 8-8, Sporleder 7-11, Taylor 14-15, Doug Klein 20-9-1 and McKnight 19-10. Other seniors out are Chris Jacobs (145), Tom Morrissey (132 and 0-14 last year), Dave Malach (132 and 1-3-1) plus Tom Moyer (119 and 7-1).

Other juniors include Jim Day (145 and 5-9-1), Rick Farringer (126 and 6-11), John Glenn (138), Jeff Jacobs (126 and 2-11), Steve Jacobs (112 and 6-10), Curt Kerchner (132 and 3-19-1) and Leonard Roux (138).

Jacobs (112 and 6-10), Curt Kerchner (132 and 3-19-1) and Leonard Roux (138). The remaining sophomores are Mark Becker (112 and 4-3), Calvin Dewey 98 and 3-2), Dennis Harper (185), Ron Kalebaugh (155), Richard Morris (98), Jody Schaefer (105), Randy Singleton (155 and 6-17) plus Tom Wedekind (155).

Freshmen out are Scott Grasser (112), Ervin Haws (98), Neil Kerchner, Tony Koch (heavyweight), Doug Keager, Harold Miles (112), John Morrissey (126), Dale Nussbaum (132), Tom Scully (98), Dave Smith (155), Ivan Spratt (98) and Sam Taylor (185).

Mahar commented, "I think one of our plusses will be all the experience our young kids got last year. Rob McKnight and Doug Klein lettered as freshmen and we have a couple of juniors also with a lot of competition."

"We also have a couple of freshmen who could do an outstanding job at the lower weights. We have a lot of inexperience between 155 to 185 and this will definitely be a minus. Tim Taylor is back at heavyweight and if he can lose a little weight and get some mobility, he will do a decent job."

"It's just like last year," continued Mahar. "We're young and we're gonna surprise some people. This is the best group I've ever had for their enthusiasm."

There's talent there, it may just take us a while to get it out of them.

"But we're finally starting to get some numbers and I attribute this increase to our summer program. Out of the freshmen, 10 of the 12 were in the summer program and this helps us get some numbers out."

"We will wrestle the toughest schedule we've ever had," Mahar added. "It is the only way to improve. We're going into the new Three Rivers Conference so the improvement may not show up for a year or two but I know the conference is going to help us."

The Clippers will have home matches versus Oregon on Wednesday, Fulton, Stockton and Byron on Jan. 3, Stillman Valley, Jan. 15; Ashton, Jan. 20; Erie, Jan. 22; the Amboy frosh-soph Invitational, Jan. 24 and Serena, Jan. 29.

Amboy will go to Prophetstown Friday, Polo, Dec. 17; Savanna, Dec. 19; Waterman, Jan. 7; Polo Tournament, Jan. 10; Mendota, Jan. 13; Morrison, Jan. 16; Sandwich, Jan. 27; Ashton Tournament, Jan. 31; Mt. Morris, Feb. 3 and Ashton, Illini Bluffs and Riverdale Feb. 7.

Denver outgained Oakland by 76 yards, 254 to 178, despite the 74 yards subtracted from the Broncos' total by the 10 sacks.

"Still, Oakland keeps on winning, and you can't knock success," said Broncos' Coach John Ralston, whose team is 5-7 and aiming only for the runner-up spot behind the Raiders, 10-2, in the American Conference West.

Ramsey threw a 33-yard pass to Haven Moses to set up Fran Lynch's five-yard touchdown run in the final period and Denver cut the Oakland lead to 14-10.

Two killing pass interference calls against cornerback Louis Wright then hit Denver's defense, setting up George Blanda's 18-yard field goal with 2:21 left in the game.

"I thought (Ted) Kwalick grabbed me. When I saw the flag I thought, 'Good, he got caught,'" said Wright, who reacted in disbelief when the first penalty was called against him rather than the Oakland receiver.

The officials moved the ball 61 of the 80 yards on the drive which led to the field goal. When Denver got the ball back for a final time, Ramsey went down under linebacker Gerald Irons and Sistrunk on successive pass attempts.

"They were all over us," said Ralston.

Lippert letters

AURORA—Miss Telva J. Lippert, 212 W. Fish St., Dixon, was honored at the end of the fall athletic season at Aurora College. Coach Jessie Laffey presented a varsity award for this year's participation in Spartan tennis.

A junior, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Lippert. Aurora College is an accredited four-year senior college of liberal arts located 40 miles west of Chicago. The coeducational college, founded by the Advent Christian Church in 1893, has an innovative curriculum which allows students to choose from more than 40 areas of concentration.

Boys' bowling team is 6-2

The Dixon High School boys bowling teams avenged earlier season losses by defeating Don Carters of Rockford at Plum Hollow on Saturday. The Dixon "A" team won 10-9, while the "B" squad posted a 14-5 victory.

Dave Knight, Chris Mullery and Dave Disch picked up two points each for the "A" team. Knight had lines of 173-193-159 against Clay Baker's 145-169-201. Mullery bowled games of 206-167-174 versus Kevin Quigley's 170-166-190.

Disch added lines of 154-194-155 to 194-165-136 for Bruce Fritz. Bob Ford and Pete Poulos added one point each for Dixon. Ford posted games of 140-178-151 to 156-175-156 for Jeff Tommerdahl, while Poulos had 178-174-180 against 195-180-158 by Mike Fenn.

Dixon dropped the opening game 660-851, won the middle contest 906-885 and lost the final game 841-819. The Dukes copped the overall total 2576-2566 for the decisive point of the match.

Mullery had the high series for Dixon with a 547, followed by Poulos 532, Knight 525, Disch 503, and Ford 469. Quigley had a 526, Fenn 533, Fritz 495, Baker 515, and Tommerdahl 487 for Don Carter.

Mike Montavan keyed the "B" team victory with games of 203-236-178 for a 617 series and three points. John Burke also collected a trio of markers with 137-167-156 and a 460 series against John Emerson 134-104-155 and 393.

Bob Knight won two games with lines of 165-155-203 against Dom Paris 175-123-109. Dale Hohm added a single point with 187-128-118 versus Doug Ross 121-156-129, while Rick Masterston also had one point with 139-147-108 to 159-134-135 by Jim Roach.

Knight finished with a 523 series, while Burke had a 460, Hohm 423 and Masterston 394. Mark Provenzano, Montavan's opponent, had lines of 149-147-117 and a 413 total. Roach ended with a 428, Paris 407, Ross 406, and Emerson 393. Dixon had games of 831-833-763 for a 2417 total, to 738-664-645 and 2047 for Don Carter's.

The Dixon boys are now 6-2 for the campaign, with the only losses to Don Carter's. Dixon will now go to Clinton, Iowa on Saturday. The Dixon girls, 1-0, go to Rock Falls today for a triangular with the host team and Sterling.

James wins one

CHAMPAIGN—Decisions by Mike James at 150 and Ron Steiner at 190 highlighted the Sauk Valley Redmen wrestlers' involvement at the University of Illinois Invitational, here, Saturday.

James opened with a 6-2 triumph over Kinsella of Illinois Wesleyan but was then pinned by Arauco of Chicago State University in 1:02. Steiner opened with a 3-0 blanking of Williams of Lincoln College. Steiner then lost in the second round to Marzao of Northwestern via a :53 pin.

Also competing for Sauk were Steve House at 158, Mike Gray at 158, Jeff Medema at 167, Ed Minertz at 177 and heavyweight Mike Cole. House was pinned by VanderLinder of Blackhawk in :29 of overtime, while Gray was pinned in 1:28 by Lauber of Western Illinois University.

Medema dropped a 10-8 decision to Torrence of Blackhawk, while Minertz lost 6-3 to Benz, also of Blackhawk. Cole was pinned by Sherrill of Southern Illinois University in 2:29. Saturday, at 1 p.m., Sauk Valley will host a triple dual meet against Florissant Valley of Missouri; Kirkwood, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Triton.

Frosh win pair

DEKALB—Steve Koch tossed in a dozen points while Tom Mott and Rick Paisley collected eight each as the Dixon "A" freshman basketball team edged DeKalb 40-39, here, Monday. Dixon is now 4-0 for the season.

The Dixon "B" squad evened its record at 2-2 with a 65-41 decision over DeKalb as Tony Spotts hit for 13 points, Chuck Boyd 17, John Sagmoe 11 and Dave Cole 12.

Dixon will now return home to face Rock Falls on Thursday.

The Doctor Says:

Blood test for proof of parentage difficult

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Please give me some information on blood tests. Can a 74-year-old man take a blood test and prove if a 37-year-old girl is his or not? This is very important to me, so please, as soon as possible, give me your answer.
DEAR READER — Blood types can sometimes be used to prove who is not the parent. That in itself is fairly complicated, because we all have two genes that determine the blood type of any of our offsprings. For example, a person with type A blood may have an A gene and an O gene, or two A genes. The O gene is a weak gene, you might even think of it as not being a blood type. Hence the A gene is dominant, but the parent can transmit the weak O gene.
A person with type B blood could have two B genes or a B and O gene. Thus a type A (AO) and type B (BO) couple could have an offspring with type A blood with AO genes, type B blood with BO genes, type O blood with two O genes, or type AB blood with A and B genes. Each parent can give only one of his genes to the offspring, but that will allow for a wide variety if the parents are AO and BO.
Whenever a child is type O it is almost impossible to say anything about the parents except that neither parent can be type AB. Why? Because such a parent would have to transmit one gene, either A or B and that gene would be dominant if the other gene was O so such a child could not be type O. Type AB blood is quite rare, so this isn't all that helpful.

In general blood typing might help you prove that a person is not your offspring, particularly if you also know the mother's blood type. Otherwise it is of limited usefulness. To show you how limited it is, if the baby in question had type O blood either parent can be type A, B, or O. Since type O is the most common blood type, occurring in 47 per cent of the population, that makes it a bit difficult.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently you mentioned cream substitutes. I would like to know your opinion on powdered skim milk. We use it daily for drinking, on cereal and everything. Occasionally I buy one per cent fortified skim milk at the store, but my son prefers the powdered milk because it is sweeter. Is there too much sugar in the powdered milk?
DEAR READER — Either product is fine. The fortified skim milk which contains about one per cent fat is low enough in fat to be acceptable for almost any diet designed for low fat intake.

Both products contain a comparable amount of milk sugar, lactose. Unless you have lactose intolerance the amount of milk sugar will not be harmful in any way.
While I often recommend non-fat dry milk powder for cooking and as a low-fat product which is high in good protein, I would also hope the diet would include a variety of protein by including some lean meat, fish or poultry. A good balanced mixture of relatively low fat foods usually produces the best results.

The move to impeach Santa

CHAPTER TWO
By Robert J. Boyle

After talking to the reporter about the impeachment resolution against him, Santa turned to Juniperperper and Jinker-snipes.

"Well, you two better get back to work now," he said. "You have a lot to do before Christmas."

"Gee, Santa, will there be a Christmas?" they asked.

"Now don't you worry about that," he said. "Certainly there will be a Christmas. Now run along. I have to tell Mrs. Santa the bad news."

"Good luck, Santa," the elves said as they left.

Santa walked from his workshop toward the kitchen where Mrs. Claus was making brown sugar starflake cookies.

"No sampling," she laughed as Santa entered the kitchen.

"Not today," he smiled. "I have some news for you and it isn't good news."

"Don't tell me one of the elves is misbehaving," Mrs. Claus said.

"No, it is worse than that and a very serious matter," Santa replied.

Mrs. Claus looked at Santa and saw his worried expression.

"My, Santa," she said. "You do look worried. Sit down and tell me about it. I'll get you a nice cup of cherry leaf tea."

"That sounds good," Santa said. "Well, here is the news. A move was made to impeach me."

Mrs. Claus looked shocked. "Who in the world would do something like that?" she asked.

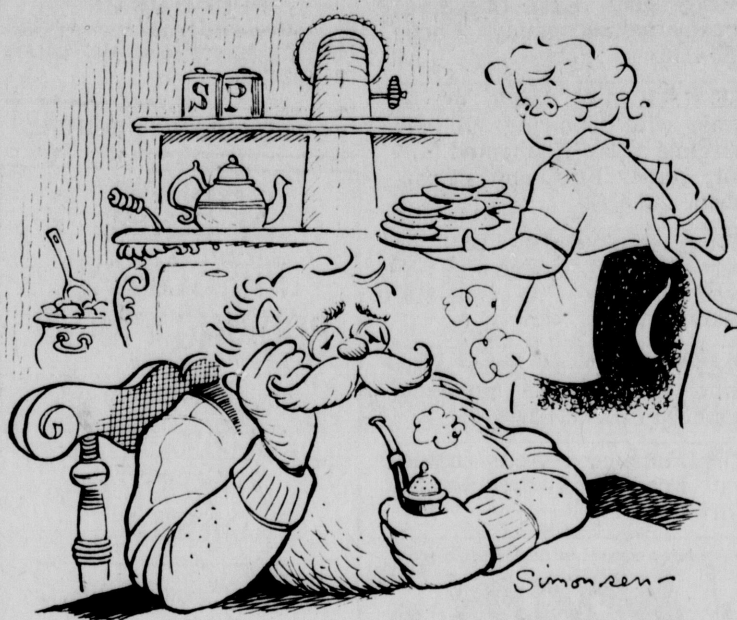

"It was Evel Whone from the Baadlands," Santa said. "He introduced a resolution into the UN today asking for my impeachment."

"Evel Whone, Evel Whone," Mrs. Claus said. "Isn't he the boy who got coal in his stocking? Burned his sister's pony tail as I recall. But that was long ago."

"You're right," Santa replied. "Happened back in 1948. But I guess Evel Whone never forgot that."

"What do you think the UN will do, Santa?" Mrs. Claus asked.

"I know the members must hear what Evel Whone has to say," Santa replied. "I also imagine that some members who don't believe in Christmas or happiness will support the resolution."

Mrs. Claus looked at Santa and saw his worried expression.

"You don't think you will be impeached, do you?" Mrs. Claus asked.

"The way the world is today, I don't know," Santa replied. "There is an awful lot of mean people in the world. They don't want happiness but prefer to live in a world full of turmoil, distrust and anger."

"Tsk, tsk, and tsk," Mrs. Claus replied. "What will you do?" "I guess I'll have to get a defense ready," Santa said.

"Defense!" Mrs. Claus said. "I don't think Santa needs a defense."

"In the good old days I wouldn't," Santa said. "But today, maybe I will. The world is changing and I don't know if it is changing for better or worse."

"Oh, Santa," Mrs. Claus said. "You always found so much good in everyone. This is no time to be thinking of the bad in some."

"You're right, you're right," Santa said. "I'll discuss it with the elves at dinner today. By the way, what are we having?"

"Your favorite, warm burger," Mrs. Claus said. "We're also having snow crystal soup, treetop potatoes and minced green beans. For dessert we're having chocolate snowwhirl pudding."

"Sounds good," Santa laughed. "But that is Juniperperper's favorite."

"It's yours, too," Mrs. Claus laughed.

"Well, I'll get back to my office," Santa said. "That cherry leaf tea hit the spot. Maybe I'll call my lawyer, James St. Goodness and hear what he has to say about the impeachment."

"That's a fine idea, Santa," Mrs. Claus said. "But believe me, you don't have a worry in the world."

"Maybe not," Santa replied as he gave Mrs. Claus a kiss on the cheek. "Maybe not."

When Santa got back to his office he called lawyer James St. Goodness.

"Hello, Jimmy," Santa said. "Did you hear the news?" "Yes, I did," he replied. "And Santa I'm sorry about it."

"What do you advise I do?" Santa asked.

"I'm sorry Santa," James St. Goodness said. "But you will have to get yourself another lawyer."

"What?" Santa said. "You've been my lawyer for years."

"I know and I would like to be your lawyer on this one, Santa," St. Goodness said. "But you see I went to school with Evel Whone and I also represent the Baadland Oil Company. So I can't represent you. It would be a conflict of interest."

"I'm sorry to hear that Jimmy," Santa said. "You've been a good lawyer."

"I also won't represent Evel Whone in this case," the lawyer said. "I just finished talking to him and told him that I couldn't act in his behalf either."

"Well that is good," Santa said.

"But I'll tell you something off the record Santa," James St. Goodness said. "I hope you win. I told Evel Whone that what he was doing is wrong. I explained that without you Christmas wouldn't be the same."

"What did he say to that?" Santa asked.

"He laughed," the lawyer said.

"That Evel Whone really is an evil one," Santa said. "I still can't understand why he is doing this."

"I think he is mad at you because you once left him coal in his stocking," the lawyer said.

"But that was back in 1948," Santa said. "In 1947 he got a bicycle and in 1949 he got a radio, an erector set and many other toys."

"But he remembers 1948 and not the other years," the lawyer said. "That's the way some people are. They don't remember your kindness to them."

"Well, Jimmy," Santa said. "I'm sorry you can't represent me."

"I'll stay in touch," the lawyer said. "And Santa, good luck."

When the conversation ended, Santa scratched his head and said to himself, "Now who in the world will I ever get to represent me?"

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 9, the 343rd day of 1975. There are 22 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1941, Japanese troops invaded the Philippines at the beginning of the Pacific war.

On this date: In 1608, the English poet, John Milton, was born in London.

In 1793, Noah Webster established New York's first daily newspaper.

In 1905, the separation of church and state was decreed in France.

In 1940, British troops opened their first big offensive in North Africa in World War II.

In 1944, Allied troops cracked German defense lines near Aachen, Germany.

In 1958, Robert Welch Jr. and 11 other men met in Indianapolis and formed a political organization they called the John Birch society.

Ten years ago: Anastas Mikoyan, who was among the last of the old Bolsheviks, stepped down as the Soviet chief of state.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon said the United States would resume the bombing of North Vietnam if the Communist side stepped up the South Vietnamese war.

Today's birthdays: Actor Kirk Douglas is 59 years old. Onetime actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is 66.

Thought for today: Freud was way off base in considering sex the fundamental motivation. The ruling passion in men is minding each other's business — poet Robert Frost, 1874-1963.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE F-644: Logan B., aged 33, is a high school civics teacher.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I minored in psychology while at college."

"And one of my profs used your 'Psychology Applied' as the textbook for his course. So I was very much interested, even then, in your nine methods for applying more Efficiency Engineering to government."

"Number 5 therein was your recommendation that the U.S. Capital be removed to a more centrally located region."

"With the rampant crime now making Washington, D.C., unsafe even in the daytime, I wish you'd stress for your readers the logical arguments you advanced on page 682 of your textbook."

A Central Capital
At present, U.S. Representatives and Senators from Hawaii, Alaska and all the western states are forced to spend many extra hours flying back and forth to Washington. If a new central site were selected for our capital, it would remedy this travel injustice.

The old government buildings could be left for use by the hordes of bureaucrats in Washington, but a new set of buildings could be constructed as in Colorado. Then note the advantages:

(1) Better climate at that higher altitude than in humid Washington.

This would save a lot of fuel charges for air-conditioning, too!

(2) Greater military protection, for our U.S. Air Force Academy is there.

And our Congress would then be 1,500 miles safer from nuclear submarine attack!

(3) Somewhere between Colorado Springs and Denver we could obtain a 10-mile square area which we might call the new District of Jefferson or Hamilton or Adams, to supplement the present District of Columbia.

(4) A second Library of Congress could be constructed there, leaving the old one for use by scholars in the East.

At present the deposit of two copies of every new copyrighted book is made at the old Library of Congress.

That rule could be expanded so an additional two copies would be sent to the new Library of Congress in Colorado, for use by Congress and scholars west of the Mississippi.

(5) The liberal Washington tinge would be replaced by our virile American outlook!

For the Atlantic seaboard still kowtows unduly to Europe, instead of to the pioneer "free enterprise" atmosphere farther west.

(6) Our Founding Fathers expected the U.S. Capital to be at the midpoint of the country.

Since there were then only 13 original states, Washington was about the center, north and south, and at that time it was also fairly close to the center of the U.S.A., east and west.

So, if alive today, they would doubtless urge a removal of the center of government to a more logical geographical spot.

(7) Since 96 per cent of the school children are colored in Washington, D.C., that overloading is unwise in any population where 85 per cent are Caucasian, so a new Capital in Colorado would help restore the proper racial percentages. Send for my booklet "How to Save Our Republic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, and help inject more "Horse Sense" into our government.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

LIQUIFIRE

Liquid cooling takes the heat off high-performance snowmobiling

- 340 and 440cc reed-valve engines are up front for better handling
- CD ignition and surface-gap plugs provide sure-fire starts.

Liquid cooling improves efficiency by reducing heat buildup. And it muffles noise levels, too. The 32-inch wide ski stance and longer "wheelbase" provide added stability. Disk brakes give fade-free stops. Slide-rail suspension. Black with silver panels.

CYCLONE

Stirs up a storm with race-inspired styling

- Front-mounted 340 or 440cc reed-valve engine
- CD ignition and surface-gap plugs for foul-free starts

If you demand stability and cross-country endurance in a sled, Cyclone is the machine for you. Wide 32-inch ski stance and longer "wheelbase" give stability on hills and switchbacks. Disk brakes provide sure-footed stops. Slide-rail suspension. Green with black panels.

Low-Cost Suits

For warmth on the trail at bargain prices, check these one-piece suits. Available in black nylon, they feature 6-oz. insulation, removable hood, and adjustable belt.

Sweaters and Caps

Choose John Deere Sweaters of Orlon acrylic or wool. Four color choices. We have bulky knit caps and new popcorn knit caps for ladies. Caps for children have pull-down masks.

Riding Mower with Snow Blade

A John Deere Riding Mower makes light-snow removal fast and easy. Choose from models in 6 or 8 horsepower. Then add this 38-inch alloy-steel blade. The rubber squeegee "cutting edge" helps prevent damage to sidewalks and driveways. And it acts as a shock absorber by reducing impact when the blade strikes an object. Angles left or right. Lifts for easy transport.

John Deere Toys

John Deere Action Toys make playtime more fun. And they're built to last. Riding tractors to put-together kits. See the full line soon.

Flashlights, Lanterns

John Deere Flashlights and Lanterns are formed of durable, high-impact plastic. They feature bulb shock absorber, unbreakable lens.

Bike Accessories

Outfit your bike the way you want. We have safety pennants, bells, horns, lights, baskets, security chains, and more. See the entire John Deere line soon.

Bicycles

It's fun to stay fit riding a John Deere. Choose from many colors, frames, and speeds — 3-, 5-, and 10-speed models, and bikes for boys and girls.

Snow Blowers

Three fully winterized models. The 5- and 7-hp models have a 26-inch cut. The 8-hp has a 32-inch cut. All have five forward speeds, plus a reverse gear, and safety clutch.

High-Pressure Washers

Electric current and cold water are all you need to put a no-scrub cleaning machine to work. Four models with nozzle pressures from 500 to 1,100 psi.

Cordless Electric Shears

3-inch and 4-inch shears have alloy-steel blades with non-stick coating. Up to 50 minutes trimming on one charge. Optional handle for stand-up trimming.

Barbecue Grills

John Deere Grills are available in gas, charcoal, and electric models. All feature quality construction for easy cooking, long service life.

Keep Batteries Powered Up With A John Deere Charger

You can keep batteries at peak charge or boost-start engines with a John Deere Charger. Choose from four models. All have a safety thermal cutoff switch, heavy-gauge steel case, color-coded terminal grips, easy-to-read ammeter, and detailed operating instructions on the case. All John Deere Chargers are UL and CSA approved.

Put Warmth Where You Want It... With A John Deere Space Heater

Three models are available to heat machine sheds, workshops, cabins... anywhere 115-volt current is available. Chrome handles and easy-rolling wheels make these heaters truly portable. All burn kerosene or No. 1 or No. 2 fuel oil.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Problems of your making are likely to catch up with you today. Don't complicate things further by losing your cool.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
This is not one of your better days for having financial or business dealings with friends. Somebody will come out with the short end.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
The spotlight is on you today. Others will eye you critically. Don't do anything that could tarnish your image.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Try not to pass yourself off today as being an expert in something you know little about. The mistakes will be traced back to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Make no impulsive moves businesswise today. There's a possibility you could make a costly blunder by not knowing what you're doing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You're likely to have trouble today in getting co-operation essential to your activities. Hold off your requests.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Pace yourself carefully today where your work is concerned. If you try to take on too much, you'll become very frustrated.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Steer as far away as possible today from anything that smacks of speculation. The odds aren't in your favor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Be understanding with those who come under your charge today. Dictatorial or harsh methods will gain you nothing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Drive with both eyes on the road and both hands on the wheel today. Take your time—so what if you're a few minutes late?

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You might impulsively decide to go on a shopping spree today and bruise your wallet badly. Live within your means.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Try to avoid head-to-head confrontations today with anyone who exercises authority over you. They'll get in the last word.

Your Birthday
Dec. 10, 1975

This coming year you will be able to take some positive steps toward shoring up situations that contribute to your basic well-being. Be diligent in what you undertake.
